U. S. MARINES GUARD HOME

Admirers From All Parts of Country at Funeral

PITTSBURG—(Associated Press)

—Friends from officialdom from the profession which carried her to the height of her operatic glory, and from the walks of life into which her various well directed interests, carried her in later years, today paid their last respects to Lillian Russell Moore, wife of A. P. Moore, Pittsburg publisher. Announcement of her death on Tuesday morning struck deep into the hearts of those who had known her down thru the year during which she was heralded as "Queen of American Opera" and hundreds of sympathetic messages have been received at the home, as well as many beautiful floral tokens.

VIEWED FOR LAST TIME
The funeral at which Pittsburg friends and admirers from all over the country gathered in farewell tribute, took place in Trinity Episcopal church.

A private service was conducted at the home previously, when members of the family and a few of the most closely associated in friendship with the deceased looked for the last time upon features of the woman whose beauty and talent was admired of the world over.

Silent sentinels, a detachment of United States marines, stood guard at the death room in the Moore home since their arrival from Washington under orders from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt. They were watching over the dead comrade, for such was by official mandate during the world war, when she held the rating of gunnery sergeant. And when their vigil was ended they were the bodyguard on the march to the church and thence to the cemetery.

ARTILLERY ESCORT
There the survivors of the 107th field artillery escorted the cortege from the gates to the vault where Mrs. Moore's body found a resting place until a suitable mausoleum can be erected.

A long squad from the American Legion whose ranks the distinguished woman ranks the distinguished member, rendered the farewell salute. Also a request that no floral tributes be sent to the home had been made, hundreds of wreaths from persons prominent in official and professional walks of life were received. One of these was from the White House. This was placed on the foot of the couch on which Mrs. Moore's body lies.

STRIKE VOTE TO ANSWER RAILS

Jewell Says He Wont Reply to Road Chiefs

CINCINNATI — (United Press) — The vote of the railway workers on the strike question may be the only answer of railroad union chiefs to the statement of six railroad executives, issued in Chicago, declaring strike talk the result of union agitation.

B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees department American Federation of Labor, said here today he would make no reply to the executive statement for the present.

"Personally, I do not attempt to say what the workers want," said Jewell. "The strike vote now being taken will reveal that. The workers are to cast their vote freely and express their own minds."

"I do not know what the officers of our department wish to do about the railroad executives' statement. I shall take it up with them for the present. I do not expect there will be any formal reply."

The strike vote is returnable June 25, Jewell and other officers of the department having advanced the date yesterday from June 30, the original return day. No reason was regarded here as indicating the union was effecting on putting the strike vote effect on July 1, the day the labor board became effective if the men vote in favor of striking.

Commissioners, Surveyor Wrangle; Roads Suffer

The Commission Form of Government, recently discovered panacea for municipal ills of the state, long enjoyed by the counties, is wrecking our macadam roads by gross inefficiency, Good Roads enthusiasts will tell county members of that Board.

Despite all efforts, little or no work has been started on badly battered and bruised county roads. Stone hauling in spots was announced by the Kounty Kommish a few days ago, but experts claim it should have been announced as dissipation of road funds.

On E. High-st near the D. T. & I. railroad, county trucks have been dumping stone, hauled at the estimated cost of 25c per ton per mile from a stone quarry three miles distant. Right around the corner almost within stone's throw is a quarry, yet Commissioners overlooked the fact that the mere hauling was costing more than the stone itself.

Out on the Spencerville road, with Tom Long's quarry and another big one of the Lima Stone Co., nearby, commissioners' trucks have been dumping stone from the National, a quarry four miles distant from the scene of the crime.

Protest meetings are being organized by Good Roads enthusiasts to face the Kounty Kommish and County Engineer Walter Toy in their own lair.

They will be asked what the inter-official row is all about, and why county road machinery is being left idle at road building time.

This county road machinery is, or has been in storage, not turning a wheel, part of it in the county garage and the rest at the Star Iron Works, it is said.

The Lafayette-rd has been almost impassable during the spring season and the West Cairo-rd much worse. The detour now necessary to bridge the road-building gap in the Bluffton Main highway is bitterly complained of by travelers. Nothing has been done to put it in condition as an auxiliary Main Market-rd during the reconstruction.

The usual defense of politicians on why things are not being done will not be in vogue, when the Road Vigilance committees confront Toy and the Kommish. This defense has been from time immemorial, "no funds." Today it is claimed there are over one hundred ($100,000) thousand dollars in the road funds available for just this work.

Almost thruout their entire time Walter Toy, the engineer, and the Kounty Kommish, supposed to be the executive branch and purchasing agents for the county, have been at loggerheads. Both Toy and the Kommish are solidly Republican and party politics have in no way played a part in the ambush warfare. Toy is generalissimo under the law, he claims, for all road work. But the Kommish is the Bank, to which Toy must go for his purchases.

Road laws of Ohio are very plain. The Kommish or the Engineer could repair roads without violating any law, for the law distinctly shows how to get materials and who shall do the work.

Efforts Thursday were being made to run an all-Lima candidate for the Board of Commissioners. Lima has not had representation since Crossley served, Mackenzie being claimed as an American-born citizen. Up to this time no Democrat has filed as a strictly city representative on the board. Nomination papers must be in the Board of Elections office before midnight Friday.

The price of stone is the same at any quarry in the county. Why the county should burn up John Dee's gasoline with heavy trucks and haul stone four miles instead of four blocks, has not been answered. It has and is being done. Has been and was done before other Kommish boards and other engineers. The system of road repairs has always been a mystery. Commissioners tell you what is wrong, immediately after they leave office, but never know while sitting as the Kounty Kommish in full flower.

A protest meeting was called early in the week for Thursday afternoon when citizens will pointedly ask what's wrong in general. And Walter Toy requested to please kiss and make up, release the road machinery from storage and get to work.

REBEL FORCES AT BELLEEK ROUTED

Free State City Quickly Taken Following English Advance

FRESH OUTBREAK IN BELFAST

Business Houses Destroyed by Bombs and Flames

BELFAST. — (Associated Press) — Belleek was occupied today by British troops which advanced this morning to take the salient from the Irish irregular forces holding it.

The fort overlooking Belleek was first captured by the British troops and the town was then taken possession of by the military.

At the Newtownards military headquarters this afternoon it was stated that Belleek was retaken without loss of life and that no prisoners were taken.

OPENING OF DRIVE

BELFAST. — (Associated Press) — A British military column comprising artillery, infantry and engineers advanced into the Belleek district on the Fermanagh-Donegal border this morning with the reported intention of occupying Belleek by nightfall.

The Republican forces are said to be falling back before the British advance.

The British advance started from a point on the south shore of Lough Erne, six miles from Belleek. The British column was accompanied by armored cars.

Before the British troops moved off, helicopter communication was established across Lough Erne, presumably with the forces holding the Belleek salient. There appeared to be a simultaneous movement in progress on both sides of the lake, in the nature of an encircling maneuver.

MORE TROOPS ARRIVE

LONDONDEIRY. — (Associated Press) — Six hundred men of the Liverpool regiment arrived here last night, taking up quarters in Termonbhacca House, owned by the Nazareth Nuns, Gwynn's Institute and the Marist Presbyterial College, all on the Donegal side of the river Foyle. The Londonderry military barracks are on the county Londonderry side of the Foyle, so that there are now large concentrations on both banks of the river.

The Republicans have commandeered the St. Johnstone Orange hall, four miles from Londonderry and also Dunmore Lodge.

OUTBREAK IN BELFAST

BELFAST. — (United Press) — Thousands of Republican rebels, concentrated at Rathfriland, are armed with the latest type of American rifles, it was reported here today.

Bombing and burning of business premises in Belfast broke out afresh today.

Armed rebels looted Lord Clancarty's mansion at Ballinacree and ordered loyalists to leave town on penalty of death.

Several thousand British troops have arrived at Londonderry, it is reported.

LOAN TO GERMANY IS GIVEN UP

Bankers' Committee Fails to Solve Financial Problem

PARIS. — (Associated Press) — All idea of an international loan to Germany has been given up by the committee of bankers and they are meeting today to agree upon the form of their report to this effect which will be submitted to the reparations commission.

The work of formulating the report is stated may take two or three sittings.

The prevailing conviction among the members of the bankers' committee is that two things are necessary to a loan:

First, there must be unanimity among the lenders, which were to include all the countries represented on the reparations commission; second, that the credit basis of Germany must be outlined clearly.

The bankers look upon the reparations commission's reply to their recent note as an official declaration that unanimity does not exist among the prospective lenders, and therefore feel that plans for a loan can not be advanced.

SHORT CIRCUIT IN FORD CALLS FIRE DEPARTMENT

When a short circuit developed in a Ford truck of the Allen bakery, 723 S. Main-st, Thursday at Prospect-av and Elm-st flames threatened to spread to the gasoline tank but the driver, W. M. Allen, proprietor of a bakery, disconnected the wire before much damage was done.

Cracking of the windshield glass was the only damage.

LETTER HELD AS KILLING CLUE

Note Found in Auto is Linked With Ward Case

BACKS UP CUNNINGHAM

Substantiates Story of Slaying in Home, Officers Say

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — Another clue tending to substantiate the story of James J. Cunningham, race track detective that Walter J. Ward shot and killed Clarence Peters, former sailor, at the Ward home in New Rochelle on the night of May 15, bobbed up today as District Attorney Weeks was resuming investigation of the case before the grand jury.

The new clue was in the form of a letter unsealed and unstamped, which Benjamin Kendall, a White Plains garage employee, turned over to the authorities, saying he found it in the coupe of J. Franklin Burke, of Scarsdale, left with him Monday night to be washed.

The letter, addressed to Mrs. Charles Dubois, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., read in part, according to Kendall:

LETTER QUOTED

"There was there when it happened and left at 10:30. The glass that they found in the driveway was not from Ward's car at all. It came from mine. Wait didn't arrive until 9:30, altho Beryl was waiting."

Ward has maintained, since he surrendered, asserting he had slain Peters in self-defense in connection with a blackmail attempt, that the killing occurred near Kensico reservoir where Peters' body was found.

Kendall declared today that when Mrs. Burke called for the coupe last Tuesday, she inquired anxiously after the letter and seemed excited when he told her he had not seen it.

CONNECTION DENIED

Burke, who is connected with a New York woolen company, declared the letter had no bearing on the Ward case, and that neither he nor his wife had attended a card party at the Ward home on the night of the killing.

Referring to the statement concerning the broken glass in the letter he admitted the glass in his car had been broken accidentally in starting the machine.

Mrs. Alfred H. Hook, who lives across the street from the Wards, and whose Christian name, Frances, is abbreviated to "Fran" by her friends, admitted to newspaper men today that she was at the Ward card party on the night of the Peters shooting. She said Mrs. Burke was there also but she did not see Peters.

"Was there any shooting in the Ward home?" she was asked.

"Positively none, there was no disturbance of any kind," she said.

RAIN AND TEMPERATURE DROP COME THURSDAY

A seven degree drop in maximum temperature since Wednesday brought with it Thursday afternoon a rain that partially broke the hot spell and served as a godsend to crops in this part of the state. Maximum yesterday was 88 degrees.

The rain started shortly after noon. A cool breeze accompanied it, much to the delight of citizens.

County Farm Agent H. J. Ridge Thursday declared that a rain would greatly increase the chances for a good crop. Likewise the fruit yield would be benefited. Weather predictions are to the effect that the rain will continue thruout the night.

PRESIDENT LEAVES ON TRIP TO NEW JERSEY

WASHINGTON — President Harding accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a small party of friends, left Washington shortly after nine o'clock today for New Jersey where tomorrow he will deliver two addresses, one at the dedication of the Princeton-Bath Monuments and the other at Princeton University.

The president and his party traveled on a regularly scheduled train and will go to Boundbrook. From there the trip will be made by automobile to the home of Senator Frelinghuysen near Raritan, where the night will be spent.

WAR HERO HUNTS WIFE, BABIES

Veteran, Overtaken by Poverty, is Deserted

OKMULGEE, Okla. — (Associated Press) — Broken in health, Captain Sunset, Cherokee Indian ace of the LaPayette Escadrille, and globe trotter, started east today on a quest for his wife and two babies, wrested from him by poverty.

Captain Sunset came back to the land of his youth at the end of the world war showered with high military decorations attesting his valor as an allied flyer. He lived here with his bride, an Alsatian, whose life he saved overseas. They came to know poverty—the war left Sunset unfit for work—and then last Sunday after trading 15 miles seeking a job, the war hero returned to his home to find his wife and babies gone.

Sunset learned from friends that his wife had purchased a ticket for Pittsburg, Pa. So he sold his little store of goods and with a purse made up by friends to aid him in his search set out on his quest.

Sunset declares that he has fourteen German planes credited to him officially, while in French service. In addition to that he claims seventeen unofficially. He has been wounded dozens of times and shot down five times. Sunset saw service in three units, the foreign legion, the LaPayette Escadrille and the United States army. He entered the United States army after a daring escape from Germany in a borrowed German plane.

KANSAS LAWS BROKEN BY DANCE IN SCHOOL HOUSE, TEACHER LOSES HER JOB

EMINENCE, Kansas — (Associated Press) — Not counting prairie dogs and jack rabbits, this western Kansas village had 92 inhabitants at last count, most of whom do not consider dancing sinful. But because she permitted a dance to be held in the school house, the school marm, Mrs. Clara White, has had her teaching certificate revoked by Miss Lorraine Wooster, state superintendent of education.

Eminence is thirty miles from railroad and tho that is not as far as it was before the days of the flivvers, amusements yet are not exactly plentiful. What there are the community has to evolve for itself, and community dances were a favored form for that.

Mrs. White says, however, that since she allowed a dance to be held in the school house and attended, she has been informed by the state superintendent of education that she has broken Kansas laws and trifled with the dignity of the commonwealth. For that reason she has been officially informed that her teaching certificate will not be renewed.

BONUS IS BLOCKED BY WILLIAMS

Presentation of Bill to Senate is Held Up

M'CUMBER READY TO ACT

Will Make Another Effort Late Today, He Says

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press) — An effort to present the soldiers' bonus bill to the senate today was blocked by Senator Williams, Democrat, Mississippi.

Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, gave notice that he would make another effort later in the day to get the measure to the senate calendar.

BILL READY

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press) — The soldiers' bonus bill was formally presented today in the senate by Chairman McCumber of the finance committee with an accompanying report placing the probable cost to the federal government at $3,845,553,481, spread over a period of 43 years from next January 1. This is approximately $250,000,000 less than the estimate under the house bill, which was $4,098,729,350, payable over 20 years.

The senate bill estimate was prepared by treasury experts and is based on the theory that 75 per cent of the 4,458,139 veterans who would elect the adjusted service certificate option, 23 1-2 per cent farm home and land settlement aid, and 2 1-2 per cent vocational training aid. Should all of the veterans select the certificate plan the total cost would be $4,486,545,975.

FINANCING PLAN

With reference to financing the legislation, Chairman McCumber's report said it was hoped that the reduction in governmental expenditures plus the payment of interest on the refunded foreign obligations would be sufficient to obviate the imposition of additional taxation.

"If it does become necessary to impose additional taxes," the report continued, "it is believed we can better determine the amount of the necessary levy and the methods of distributing such burdens for the future at a later date when the future condition of the treasury will be more accurately established."

As to the refunded foreign obligations the hope was expressed that these soon would be obtained and that it will be possible for the foreign governments to provide for the immediate payment of interest thereon so that such interest can be used toward defraying the expenses authorized under this act.

THREE YEARS' COST

Senator McCumber explained that an attempt had been made to reduce to a minimum actual cash payments under the bill during the next three years while the treasury is engaged in refunding the nearly seven billions of dollars of maturing government obligations. The estimated cost of the bonus for those three years was $242,000,000. After its presentation to the senate the bonus bill will remain until there is an agreement to call it up.

Senator McCumber and some other proponents desire early action but several Republican leaders are opposed to sidetracking the tariff bill as they expect the fight over the bonus to consume at least a month and perhaps six weeks.

JUDGMENT TAKEN

Cognovit judgment of amounting to $267.73 was awarded the Cliff Wood Coal company, Thursday, in an action against the Lima Dort Motor Car company. Suit was brought for fuel and supplies purchased from the plaintiff.

ROYAL PAIR WEDS UNDER HEAVY MILITARY GUARD

Princess of Rumania Becomes Jugoslavia King's Bride

PRECAUTIONS ELABORATE

Double Rows of Soldiers Along Bridal Party's Route

BELGRADE. — (Associated Press) — All Jugo-Slavia has gone marriage-mad as a result of the royal wedding today uniting King Alexander and Princess Marie of Rumania. All the eligible swains and maidens of the picturesque peasant country seem to want to get married this week also, and the churches are flooded with applications for licenses.

Elaborate precautions were taken to guard the royal couple during their wedding festivities. The entire route of the bridal party from the palace to the cathedral was lined with double rows of soldiers and gendarmes with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets. One line of the troops faced out and the other inward. Their orders were to shoot immediately, it is understood, if they noticed any suspicious movement among the spectators. Residents of the city living along the streets thru which the procession passed were forbidden to open their windows without special police permission.

GUARDS ON BALCONIES

Armed guards were placed on all the balconies and points of vantage, and the number of spectators on each was strictly limited so that there might be a clear space between each individual and his neighbors. No one was allowed to carry a camera, satchel or other object without written permission.

Medieval pomp and splendor marked the wedding. Nearly every nation in the Old and New World was represented at the ceremony, which linked the dynasties of three Balkan countries, forming a powerful barrier against future wars in this turbulent part of Europe. The event probably will remain unmatched for a long time in Balkan annals for its political significance, the lavishness and beauty of its settings, the enthusiasm and fervor of the people; the picturesque of the processions, and the quaintness of the presents to the bride and groom.

GEMS CONTRIBUTED

The bridal gown was an antique creation of white crepe George, with long court train, embroidered in pure silver and crystals, and the princess wore over her tulle veil a shower of scintillating gold strands. She was a picture of girlish beauty, dignity and grace as she was escorted to the altar by her father, King Ferdinand of Rumania. From her shoulders fell a large court mantel in brilliant silver, at the lower edge of which the double arms of Rumania and Jugoslavia were embroidered in silver and gold. King Alexander presented his bride with a massive crown of gold, set with diamonds and rubies, each province of Jugoslavia having contributed a precious stone to the diadem.

The king, who entered the church arm in arm with Queen Marie, his future mother-in-law, wore the bright full-dress uniform of a Serbian general. His best man was the Duke of York, son of King George of England.

CELEBRITIES PRESENT

Among the celebrities present were: The Duke of York, representing King George of England; the Italian Crown Prince, representing the King of Italy, Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, sister of the Queen of Rumania; the Infanta Beatrice, youngest sister of the Greek royal family; Marshal Franchet d'Esperay, representing France, and Crown Prince Carol and Princess Helena of Rumania. The sovereigns of Japan, Belgium, Spain, Norway, and the heads of state of other countries also were represented.

Princess Helen of Russia, sister of King Alexander; Prince Arseno Karageorgievich, his uncle, and the son of the latter, Prince Paul, who are the only living relatives of the King, also were present. Prince George, the King's elder brother, who is living in Paris and who renounced the throne 12 years ago, was not invited.

DAD WATCHES OVER HIS CHILDREN BY RADIO

Radio Will Bring Campaign Speakers Into Homes

(By PAUL F. GODLEY)
America's Foremost Radio Authority

Political aspirants had better begin developing their broadcasting voice. Their election may depend on it. Late last November I was invited to speak before the London Society of Wireless Telegraphy. I told about my conception of radio broadcasting as a great national scheme—which called for a working combination between our broadcasting stations and our telephone systems. And I expressed a belief that this would all come about by the time our next president was inaugurated.

It's coming even sooner. Women of Pennsylvania helped nominate Gifford Pinchot for governor by radio-phon.

NATION AS AUDIENCE

By 1925 several millions will listen to our next president deliver his inaugural address—and hear every word of it—by radio.

During the next few months considerable campaign speaking will be broadcast. It has been the practice, apparently, for political nominees to spend huge sums of money in getting their messages to the people. In national campaigns, the expenditure of this money has entailed travelling journeys from one end of the land to the other—and many disappointments. Sometimes the political aspirant would arrive at a strategic point during extremely inclement weather. Occasionally the strain of the trip would bring about a breakdown at the height of the campaign.

All this is cut out by the use of radio. SPEECHES AT HOME

I am quite sure that those persons who are really sincere in wishing to get the views of the several nominees, would much prefer to sit at home with their radio receivers clamped to their ears and receive distinctly each word spoken, than stand in the hot sun or perhaps the cold rain—part of a huge crowd straining its ears to catch an occasional phrase.

Only a beginning has been made in electrifying by radio.

But the movement will grow rapidly. Candidate will find that they cannot very well afford to overlook the remarkable possibilities offered by radio broadcasting.

Its ramifications are limitless.

IRISH FORTRESS CAPTURED BY BRITISH

COMRADES HONOR LILLIAN RUSSELL

Survivors of 107th Artillery Escort Body to Vault

U. S. MARINES GUARD HOME

Admirers From All Parts of Country at Funeral

PITTSBURG—(Associated Press)—Friends from officialdom from the profession which carried her to the height of her operatic glory, and from the walks of life into which her various well directed interests, earned her in later years, today paid their last respects to Lillian Russell Moore, wife of A. P. Moore, Pittsburg publisher. Announcement of her death on Tuesday morning struck deep into the hearts of those who had known her down thru the year during which she was heralded as "Queen of American Opera" and hundreds of sympathetic messages have been received at the home, as well as many beautiful floral tokens. VIEWED FOR LAST TIME

The funeral at which Pittsburg friends and admirers from all over the country gathered in farewell tribute, took place in Trinity Episcopal church. A private service was conducted at the home previously, when members of the family and a few of the most closely associated in friendship with the deceased looked for the last time upon features of the woman whose beauty and talent was admired all over the world.

Silent sentinels, a detachment of United States marines, stood guard at the death room in the Moore home since their arrival from Washington under orders from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt. They were watching over the dead "maiden" for such she was by official warrant during the world war, when she held the rating of gunnery sergeant. And when their vigil was ended they were the bodyguard on the march to the church and thence to the cemetery.

ARTILLERY ESCORT

There the survivors of the 107th field artillery escorted the cortege from the gates to the vault where Mrs. Moore's body found a resting place until a suitable mausoleum can be erected.

A firing squad from the American Legion whose ranks the distinguished woman graced by her membership, rendered the farewell salute. Also a request that no floral tributes be sent to the home had been made, hundreds of wreaths from persons prominent in official and professional walks of life were received. Of these was placed on the foot of the couch on which Mrs. Moore's body lies.

STRIKE VOTE TO ANSWER RAILS

Jewell Says He Won't Reply to Road Chiefs

CINCINNATI — (United Press)—The vote of the railway workers on the strike question may be the only answer of railroad union chiefs to the statement of railroad executives, issued in Chicago, declaring strike talk the result of union agitation.

B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees' department American Federation of Labor, said here today he would make no reply to the executive statement for the present.

"Personally, I do not attempt to say what the workers want," said Jewell. "The strike vote now being taken will reveal that. The workers are to cast their vote freely and express their own minds."

"I do not know what the officers of our department wish to do about the railroad executives' statement. I shall take it up with them for the present. I do not expect there will be any formal reply."

The strike vote is returnable June 15, Jewell and other officers of the department having advanced the date yesterday from June 30, the original return day. No reason was assigned for the change, but it was regarded here as indicating the union chiefs' intention of putting the strike vote effect on July 1, the day the labor board became effective if the vote is in favor of striking.

CANTON. — Held in the county jail, pending an investigation as to her sanity, Mrs. Blanche O. Corbett, 36, committed suicide by hanging.

FIREMAN KILLED

YORK, Pa. — The fireman on a Pennsylvania express train was killed when the train left the rails at Brillhart, near here.

Commissioners, Surveyor Wrangle; Roads Suffer

The Commission Form of Government, recently discovered panacea for municipal ills of the state, long enjoyed by the counties, is wrecking our macadam roads by gross inefficiency, Good Roads enthusiasts will tell county members of that Board.

Despite all efforts, little or no work has been started on badly battered and bruised county roads. Stone hauling in spots was announced by the County Kommish a few days ago, but experts claim it should have been announced as dissipation of road funds.

On E. High-st near the D. T. & I. railroad, county trucks have been dumping stone, hauled at the estimated cost of 25c per ton per mile from a stone quarry three miles distant. Right around the corner almost within stone's throw is a quarry, yet Commissioners overlooked the fact that the mere hauling was costing more than the stone itself.

Out on the Spencerville road, with Tom Long's quarry and another big one of the Lima Stone Co., nearby, commissioners' trucks have been dumping stone from the National, a quarry four miles distant from the scene of the crime.

Protest meetings are being organized by Good Roads enthusiasts to face the County Kommish and County Engineer Walter Toy in their own lair.

They will be asked what the inter-official row is all about, and why county road machinery is being left idle at road building time.

This county road machinery is, or has been in storage, not turning a wheel, part of it in the county garage and the rest at the Star Iron Works, it is said.

The Lafayette-rd has been almost impassable during the spring season and the West Cairo-rd much worse. The detour now necessary to bridge the road-building gap in the Bluffton Main highway is bitterly complained of by travelers. Nothing has been done to put it in condition as an auxiliary Main Market-rd during the reconstruction.

The usual defense of politicians on why things are not being done will not be in vogue, when the Road Vigilance committees confront Toy and the Kommish. This defense has been from time immemorial, "no funds." Today it is claimed there are over one hundred ($100,000) thousand dollars in the road funds available for just this work.

Almost thruout their entire time Walter Toy, the engineer, and the County Kommish, supposed to be the executive branch and purchasing agents for the county, have been at loggerheads. Both Toy and the Kommish are solidly Republican and party politics have in no way played a part in the ambush warfare. Toy is generalissimo under the law, he claims, for all road work. But the Kommish is the Bank, to which Toy must go for his purchases.

Road laws of Ohio are very plain. The Kommish or the Engineer could repair roads without violating any law, for the law distinctly shows how to get materials and who shall do the work.

Efforts Thursday were being made to run an all-Lima candidate for the Board of Commissioners. Lima has not had representation since Crossley served, Mackenzie being claimed as an American-tp citizen. Up to this time no Democrat has filed as a strictly city representative on the board. Nomination papers must be in the Board of Elections office before midnight Friday.

The price of stone is the same at any quarry in the county. Why the county should burn up John Dee's gasoline with heavy trucks and haul stone four miles instead of four blocks, has not been answered. It has and is being done. Has been and was done before other Kommish boards and other engineers. The system of road repairs has always been a mystery. Commissioners tell you what is wrong, immediately after they leave office, but never know while sitting as the County Kommish in full flower.

A protest meeting was called early in the week for Thursday afternoon when citizens will pointedly ask what's wrong in general. And Walter Toy requested to please kiss and make up, release the road machinery from storage and get to work.

REBEL FORCES AT BELLEEK ROUTED

Free State City Quickly Taken Following English Advance

FRESH OUTBREAK IN BELFAST.

Business Houses Destroyed by Bombs and Flames

BELFAST. — (Associated Press)—Belleek was occupied today by British troops which advanced this morning to take the salient from the Irish irregular forces holding it. The fort overlooking Belleek was first captured by the British troops and the town was then taken possession of by the military.

At the Newtownards military headquarters this afternoon it was stated that Belleek was retaken without loss of life and that no prisoners were taken.

OPENING OF DRIVE

BELFAST. — (Associated Press).—A British military column comprising artillery, infantry and engineers advanced into the Belleek district on the Fermanagh-Donegal border this morning with the reported intention of occupying Belleek by nightfall.

The British advance started from a point on the south shore of Lough Erne, six miles from Belleek. The British column was accompanied by armored cars.

Before the British troops moved off, helicopter communication was established across Lough Erne, presumably with the forces holding the Pettigo salient. There appeared to be a simultaneous movement in progress on both sides of the lake, in the nature of an encircling maneuver.

MORE TROOPS ARRIVE

LONDONDERRY. — (Associated Press)—Six hundred men of the Liverpool regiment arrived here last night, taking up quarters in Termonbhacca House, owned by the Nazareth Nuns, Gwynn's Institute and the Magee Presbyterian College, all on the Donegal side of the river Foyle. The Londonderry military barracks are on the county Londonderry side of the Foyle, so that there are now large concentrations on both banks of the river.

The Republicans have commandeered the St. Johnston Orange hall, four miles from Londonderry and also Dunmore Lodge.

OUTBREAK IN BELFAST

BELFAST. — (United Press).—Thousands of Republican rebels, concentrated at Rathpoe, are armed with the latest type of American rifles. It was reported here today.

Bombing and burning of business premises in Belfast broke out afresh today.

Armed rebels looted Lord Glancarrow's mansion at Rathpoe and ordered loyalists to leave town on penalty of death.

Several thousand British troops have arrived at Londonderry, it is reported.

LOAN TO GERMANY IS GIVEN UP

Bankers' Committee Fails to Solve Financial Problem

PARIS. — (Associated Press).—All idea of an international loan to Germany has been given up by the committee of bankers and they are meeting today to agree upon the form of their report to this effect which will be submitted to the reparations commission.

The work of formulating the report, it is stated, may take two or three sittings.

The prevailing conviction among the members of the bankers' committee is that two things are necessary to a loan:

First, there must be unanimity among the leaders, which were to include all the countries represented on the reparations commission; second, that the loan was of Germany must be outlined clearly.

The bankers look upon the reparations commission's reply to their recent note as an official declaration that unanimity does not exist among the prospective lenders, and therefore feel that plans for a loan cannot be advanced.

SHORT CIRCUIT IN FORD CALLS FIRE DEPARTMENT

When a short circuit developed in a Ford truck of the Allen bakery, 723 S. Main-st., Thursday at Prospect-av and Elm-st flames threatened to spread to the gasoline tank, but the driver, W. M. Allen, proprietor of a bakery, disconnected the wires before much damage was done. Cracking of the windshield glass was the only damage.

LETTER HELD AS KILLING CLUE

Note Found in Auto is Linked With Ward Case

BACKS UP CUNNINGHAM

Substantiates Story of Slaying in Home, Officers Say

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — (Associated Press).—Another clue tending to substantiate the story of James J. Cunningham, race track detective that Walter L. Ward shot and killed Clarence Peters, former sailor, at the Ward home in New Rochelle on the night of May 15, bobbed up today as District Attorney Weeks was resuming investigation of the case before the grand jury.

The new clue was in the form of a letter unsealed and unstamped, which Benjamin Kendall, a White Plains garage employe, turned over to the authorities, saying he found it in the coupe of J. Franklin Burke, of Scarsdale, left with him Monday night to be washed.

The letter, addressed to Mrs. Charles Dubois, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., read in part, according to Kendall:

"Fran was there when it happened and left at 10:30. The glass that they found in the driveway was not from Ward's car at all. It came from mine. Walt didn't arrive until 9:30, altho Beryl was waiting."

Ward has maintained, since he surrendered, asserting he had slain Peters in self-defense in connection with a blackmail attempt, that the killing occurred near Kensico reservoir where Peters' body was found.

Kendall declared today that when Mrs. Burke called for the coupe last Tuesday, she inquired anxiously after the letter and seemed excited when he told her he had not seen it.

CONNECTION DENIED

Burke, who is connected with a New York woolen company, declared the letter had no bearing on the Ward case, and that neither he nor his wife had attended a card party at the Ward home on the night of the killing.

Referring to the statement concerning the broken glass in the letter he admitted the glass in his car had been broken accidentally in starting the machine.

Mrs. Alfred H. Hook, who lives across the street from the Wards, and whose Christian name, Frances, is abbreviated to "Fran" by her friends, admitted to new-paper men today that she was at the Ward card party on the night of the Peters shooting. She said Mrs. Burke was there also but she did not see "etters."

"Was there any shooting in the Ward house?" she was asked.

"Positively none," she said. "No disturbance of any kind," she said.

RAIN AND TEMPERATURE DROP COME THURSDAY

A seven degree drop in maximum temperature since Wednesday brought with it Thursday afternoon a rain that partially broke the hot spell and served as a godsend to crops in this part of the state. Maximum yesterday was 88 degrees.

The rain started shortly after noon. A cool breeze accompanied it, much to the delight of citizens.

County Farm Agent H. J. Ridge Thursday declared that a rain would greatly increase the chances for a good crop. Likewise, the fruit yield will be benefited. Weather predictions are to the effect that the rain will continue thruout the night.

PRESIDENT LEAVES ON TRIP TO NEW JERSEY

WASHINGTON—President Harding accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a small party of friends, left Washington shortly after nine o'clock today for New Jersey where tomorrow he will deliver two addresses, one at the dedication of the Princeton Battle Monument and the other at Princeton University.

The president and his party traveled on a regularly scheduled train and will go to Boundbrook, from there the trip will be made by automobile to the home of Senator Frelinghuysen near Raritan, where the night will be spent.

WAR HERO HUNTS WIFE, BABIES

Veteran, Overtaken by Poverty, is Deserted

OKMULGEE, Okla. — (Associated Press).—Broken in health, Captain Sunset, Cherokee Indian ace of the LaFayette Escadrille, and globe trotter, started east today on a quest for his wife and two babies, wrested from him by poverty.

Captain Sunset came back to the land of his youth at the end of the world war showered with high military decorations attesting his valor as an allied flier. He lived here with his bride, an Alaskan, whose life he saved overseas. They came to know poverty—the war left Sunset unfit for work—and then last Sunday after trudging 15 miles seeking a job, the war hero returned to his home to find his wife and babies gone.

Sunset learned from friends that his wife had purchased a ticket for Pittsburgh, Pa. So he sold his little store of goods and with a purse made up by friends to aid him in his search set out on his quest.

Sunset declares that he has fourteen German planes credited to him officially, while in French service. In addition to that he claims seventeen unofficially. He has been wounded dozens of times and shot down five times. Sunset saw service in three units, the foreign legion, the LaFayette Escadrille and the United States army after a daring escape from Germany in a borrowed German plane.

KANSAS LAWS BROKEN BY DANCE IN SCHOOL HOUSE, TEACHER LOSES HER JOB

EMINENCE, Kansas. — (Associated Press).—Not counting prairie dogs and jack rabbits, this western Kansas village had 92 inhabitants at last count, most of whom do not consider dancing sinful. But because she permitted a dance to be held in the school house, the school marm, Mrs. Clara White, has had her teaching certificate revoked by Miss Lorraine Wooster, state superintendent of education.

Eminence is thirty miles from railroad and tho that is not as far as it was before the days of the flivvers, amusements yet are not exactly plentiful. What there are the community has to evolve for itself, and community dances were a favored form for that.

Mrs. White says, however, that since she allowed a dance to be held in the school house and attended, she has been informed by the state superintendent of education that she has broken Kansas laws and trifled with the dignity of the commonwealth. For that reason she has been officially informed that her teacher's certificate will not be renewed.

BONUS IS BLOCKED BY WILLIAMS

Presentation of Bill to Senate is Held Up

M'CUMBER READY TO ACT

Will Make Another Effort Late Today, He Says

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press).—An effort to present the soldiers' bonus bill to the senate today was blocked by Senator Williams, Democrat, Mississippi.

Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, gave notice that he would make another effort later in the day to get the measure to the senate calendar.

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press).—The soldiers' bonus bill was formally presented today in the senate by Chairman McCumber of the finance committee with an accompanying report placing the probable cost to the federal government at $3,845,659,481, spread over a period of 43 years from next January 1. This is approximately $250,000,000 less than the estimate under the house bill, which was $4,098,719,350, payable over 20 years.

The senate bill estimate was prepared by treasury experts and is based on the theory that 75 per cent of the 4,458,199 veterans who would be eligible for compensation would elect the adjusted service certificate option; 22 1-2 per cent farm, home and land settlement aid, and 2 1-2 per cent vocational training aid. Should all of the veterans select the certificate plan the total cost would be $4,486,545,975.

FINANCING PLAN

With reference to financing the legislation, Chairman McCumber's report said it was hoped that the reduction in governmental expenditures plus the payment of interest on the refunded foreign obligations would be sufficient to obviate the imposition of additional taxation.

"If it does become necessary to impose additional taxes," the report continued, "it is believed we can better determine the amount of the necessary levy and the methods of distributing such burdens for the future at a later date when the future condition of the treasury will be more accurately established."

As to the refunded foreign obligations the hope was expressed that "that it will be possible for the foreign governments to provide for the immediate payment of interest thereon so that such interest can be used toward defraying the expenses authorized under this act."

THREE YEARS' COST

Senator McCumber explained that an attempt had been made to reduce to a minimum actual cash payments under the bill during the next three years while the treasury is engaged in refunding the nearly seven billions of dollars of maturing government obligations. The estimated cost of the bonus for those three years was $242,000,000. After its presentation to the senate the bonus bill went to the calendar where it will remain until there is an agreement to call it up.

Senator McCumber and some other proponents desire early action but several Republican leaders are opposed to sidetracking the tariff bill as they expect the fight over the bonus to consume at least a month and perhaps six weeks.

JUDGMENT TAKEN

Cognovit judgment of amounting to $267.73 was awarded the Cliff Wood Coal company, Thursday, an action against the Lima Dort Motor Car company. Suit was brought for fuel and supplies purchased from the plaintiff.

ROYAL PAIR WEDS UNDER HEAVY MILITARY GUARD

Princess of Rumania Becomes Yugoslavia King's Bride

PRECAUTIONS ELABORATE

Double Rows of Soldiers Along Bridal Party's Route

BELGRADE. — (Associated Press).—All Jugo-Slavia has gone marriage-mad as a result of the royal wedding today uniting King Alexander and Princess Marie of Rumania. All the eligible swains and maidens of the picturesque peasant country seem to want to get married this week also, and the churches are flooded with applications for licenses.

Elaborate precautions were taken to guard the royal couple during their wedding festivities. The entire route of the bridal party from the palace to the cathedral was lined with double rows of soldiers and gendarmes with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets. One line of the troops faced out and the other inward. Their orders were to shoot immediately, it is understood, if they noticed any suspicious movement among the spectators. Residents of the city living along the streets thru which the procession passed were forbidden to open their windows without special police permission.

GUARDS ON BALCONIES

Armed guards were placed on all the balconies and points of vantage, and the number of spectators on each was strictly limited so that there might be a clear space between each individual and his neighbors. No one was allowed to carry a camera, satchel or other object without written permission.

Medieval pomp and splendor marked the wedding. Nearly every nation in the Old and New World was represented at the ceremony, which linked the dynasties of three Balkan countries, forming a powerful barrier against future wars in this turbulent part of Europe. The event probably will remain unmatched for a long time in Balkan annals for its political significance; the lavishness and beauty of its settings; the enthusiasm and fervor of the people; the picturesqueness of the processions, and the quaintness of the presents to the bride and groom.

GEMS CONTRIBUTED

The bridal gown was an antique creation of "white crepe George," with long court train, embroidered in pure silver and crystals, and the princess wore over her tulle veil a shower of scintillating gold strands. She was a picture of girlish beauty, dignity and grace as she was escorted to the altar by her father, King Ferdinand of Rumania. From her shoulders fell a large court mantel in brilliant silver at the lower edge of which the double arms of Rumania and Yugoslavia were embroidered in silver and gold. King Alexander presented his bride with a massive crown of gold, set with diamonds and rubies, each province of Yugoslavia having contributed a precious stone to the diadem.

The king, who entered the church arm in arm with Queen Marie, his future mother-in-law, wore the bright full-dress uniform of a Serbian general. His best man was the Duke of York, son of King George of England; the

RECORD CLASS TO GRADUATE

199 Will Get Diplomas at Combined Commencement

EXERCISES FRIDAY NIGHT

Hundred Fifty From Central, Forty-nine From South

Central and South High schools will hold their annual commencement exercises Friday at 8 p. m. at Memorial hall, when 199 students among whom are 150 from Central High and 49 from South High, will be graduated. Diplomas also will be presented to 31 members of the joint county anti-city normal school. Sixteen are from the city and 15 from the county.

It is one of the largest groups ever graduated from Lima schools. For that reason the class will not be seated on the stage at Memorial hall, but will occupy seats on the main floor. Tickets for the exercises will first be given to graduates. The general public will be offered seats remaining at 2 p. m. Friday. The tickets may be had at Memorial hall.

Dr. E. H. Bryan, of Ohio State university, will deliver the annual commencement address. His subject will be, "The Unfilled Task." The list of graduates is as follows:

RAIN FORECAST BY WEATHER BUREAU

At last, the long looked for boon for suffering mankind is promised by the weatherman. The prolonged spell of warmth that has gripped this city for weeks, now threatens to be broken, or at least temporarily relieved, according to the latest reports from the weather bureau. Predictions declare that thunder showers Thursday night or Friday, will relieve the situation. Clouds have been gathering all day, and a sultry feeling has pervaded the atmosphere. Wind was practically missing all day. Everything points towards a fulfillment of the prophecy. Farmers, particularly, welcome the predicted wet weather. Crops are badly in need of rain, they say.

"BOTTLED DEATH" WIDELY SOLD

Danger in Bootleg Whiskey Pointed Out by Experts

NINE OF 10 SAMPLES POISON

Hootch Gathered From 15 Cities is Analyzed

WASHINGTON, — (Special.) — When you drink bootleg the chances are better than nine out of 10 that you are drinking rank poison—"bottled death."

The Lima News thru NEA Service has established this by chemical analysis of 38 samples of bootleg bought in 15 cities scattered throughout the nation.

The samples have been analyzed by government experts. Only two of the 38 samples proved to be whiskey of pre-prohibition quality. One of these was purchased in Boston, the other in Washington. Two more were synthetic gin-hold passable. One of these samples was from Cleveland, the other from Los Angeles.

But bootleg consumers in Boston, Washington, Cleveland and Los Angeles need not jump to the conclusion that because these samples were passable, all bootleg vended in these cities is safe. For other samples, bought in these places proved dangerous.

Of the remaining 34 samples, 15 were doctored and diluted whiskeys or whiskeys produced from an alcohol base and artificially colored and flavored; 17 were raw moonshine of varying degrees of rankness; one was poor beer, containing wild yeasts; and one was a distilled wine, of poor quality.

WHERE COLLECTED

Samples were collected from these widely scattered cities: Dallas, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; Denver, Col.; Norfolk, Va.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Birmingham, Ala.; Cleveland; Chicago; Seattle, Wash.; San Francisco; Los Angeles, New York; Providence, R. I.; Boston and Washington.

They are bought from a wide range of bootleg channels and analyzed without selection. They came from drug stores, bell boys, boot-blacks, barbers, porters, milkmen, near-beer saloons and similar channels of the trade, with a few seized in official raids.

The samples were assembled in Washington, and analyzed for the Lima News and NEA Service by government chemists in government laboratories.

The analyses showed that when you buy bootleg you get nearly always a dangerous concoction of colored and doctored alcohol, or a raw distillate full of aldehydes and volatile poisons that will leave you with an awful head the day after drinking, and a wrecked constitution after repeated doses.

PERILOUS TO HEALTH

The "aldehydes" found in the moonshines and doctored whiskeys are elements intermediate between alcohols and acids. They are derived from the higher alcohols by the oxidation and removal of a certain hydrogen content and the addition of a very small amount of oxygen converts them into active acids.

"The effect of these aldehydes," says William V. Linder, government chemist, "is to 'kick one out' much more quickly than would high-grade whiskey."

"Their consumption over any considerable period undermines the general constitution to a point where it seems much more susceptible to many diseases."

"While not immediately poisonous, causing sudden blindness or death as does methyl or wood alcohol, their effect is definitely and cumulatively harmful."

DANGEROUS ELEMENTS

The dangerous elements in moonshine and doctored whiskeys, for most part, Linder explains, are due to the unscientific distilling and blending, and to the unsanitary surroundings in which most of the operations are carried on.

"Moonshine," says Linder, "is produced for most part under the most unsanitary and unsanitary conditions. The mash is fermented in barrels or tubs, usually in the open outdoors or in musty cellars. Under such conditions, the development of wild yeasts and unwholesome fermentations are common. Many moonshines show evidences of active putrefaction."

"In distilling, too, all the volatile elements come over. In commercial distilling, for the production of high-grade whiskeys, it was the custom to discard what was known as the 'heads,' or first run, containing the high alcohols and the more volatile oils, and the 'tails' or the last run. Only the middle run was retained."

USES ALL ELEMENTS

"The moonshiner, however, runs it all in—heads, tails and middles. The elements that the commercial distiller carefully eliminated, therefore, remain in moonshine."

GIVES UP LIFE TO AID TEACHERS

Illinois Instructress Pays "Supreme Sacrifice" in Fight

DISMISSED, KILLS SELF

Hailed as Martyr to Cause by Associates

ELGIN, Ill. — (Special.) — The halo of a city's reverence rests on the memory of Mary Long. She committed suicide, but today she is called "the school teacher martyr," her death "the supreme sacrifice."

Mary Long died, this city recognizes, to awaken America to the shameful lack of appreciation the nation shows for its teachers. Already her death has created such an awakening in Elgin.

Mary Long taught school 27 of her 47 years. She was a leader in the teachers' long and futile fight for better pay and better treatment. Twice the teachers, backed by a committee of citizens, tried to elect to the school board members favorable to their plea for higher wages, improved working conditions and the removal of Superintendent Robert I. White.

TEACHERS DISMISSED
Both times the teachers' tickets failed. The last time was in April. Immediately Miss Long and 14 other teachers were dismissed. All were leaders in the Elgin Teachers' Association.

Then Mary Long drank poison. Those who know her best say she sacrificed herself because she was determined to attract the community's full attention to the injustice dealt the teachers.

So the teachers' fight for fair treatment has been given new impetus. Mrs. Charles W. Cornell and Mrs. F. D. Adams head a citizens' committee which has dedicated itself to carry on Mary Long's fight for victory.

It looks as if all the discharged teachers would be reinstated.

OFFICIALS' ATTITUDE
Targets of attack, President E. H. Abbott of the school board and Superintendent White deny the teachers have been unfairly treated, and say the dismissals were for the good of the schools.

The city's sympathy has gone out to Mary Long's mother, who lives in a tiny cottage here.

"My daughter is dead," she says, "but she died so that the world might know what the teachers are fighting for. I am proud that she died so others might have justice."

Teachers throughout the country, individually and thru their organizations, have sent letters of encouragement and support to Mary Long's associates.

LETTER OF CHEER IS QUICKLY FOLLOWED BY MESSAGE OF DEATH

Mrs. Rebecca Worline, 77, long-time resident of Lima up to ten years ago, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Williams, at Hermosa Beach, California Wednesday, according to information received here by her niece, Mrs. A. E. Mowery, 332 Prospect-ave.

In the morning Mrs. Mowery had received a letter from her aunt, telling her of anticipated movements and prophesying a pleasant summer. Cause of her death is unknown.

Mrs. Worline was a sister of Albert Hoffner, Bellefontaine-ave, the only one of whom is left of a large family of children. Beside her daughter, with whom she made her home, a son Herbert, of Hermosa Beach, and two grandchildren, survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in Hermosa Beach and interment will be in that city.

LODGE NOTICES

A. I. U. Lima Chapter Number 6. Business of vital importance tonight. All members urged to attend. Dancing, cards and ice cream after short business session.

White Shrine of Jerusalem will meet in Eagle Hall, Friday at 5:30 p. m. for a covered dish party.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

William H. Shinn, Montpelier attorney, will make the race for nomination of State Senator on the Democratic ticket in the 32nd district. He formerly represented Williams in the state assembly. His candidacy has been filed in Williams and was learned Thursday. He will oppose Earl F. Ferguson of Van Wert.

JURY FAILS ON VERDICT

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. — The jury in the case of Ramon Spinoso, union mine, charged with violating an injunction restraining interference with the operation of the West Virginia mines of the West Virginia Coal Company, was discharged in federal court here today. The jury failed to reach a verdict after deliberating 24 hours.

WANTS FURNITURE

Action to replevin furniture alleged to be unlawfully seized was filed in common pleas court by Carl Shaw, 799 Dingledine-ave, vulcanizer against Lida Allstetter. Shaw contends that the defendant has his furniture, valued at $923, and that it was obtained without due process of law.

Unsanitary fermentation and unscientific distilling.

"All these elements, even including in one case signs of putrefaction were present in the samples in this test."

Aldehydes, high alcohols and volatile oils in moonshine have a direct injurious effect on the circulatory, kidney and nervous systems, according to Reid Hunt, former chief of the Division of Pharmacology, Hygienic Laboratory, U. S. Public Health Service.

Also they result in "an increased liability to contract diseases or to contract them in especially severe form."

Among the ailments which these elements are generally recognized in the medical profession as aiding and abetting are:

Hardening of the arteries. Cirrhosis of the liver. A wide range of digestive disturbances.

hereby makes application to receive instructions in swimming, free of charge, in the Y. M. C. A. pool. I, G. Maxwell, instructor.

Boys are requested to fill this blank and leave it at the American Bank or at the Y. M. C. A. before June 12th. No suits necessary, but each boy must take a shower and soap bath prior to entering the pool.

NATATORS TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION

"Y" Swimmers Will Publicly Explain Strokes Used

Expert swimmers from the Lima Y. M. C. A., who are co-operating with the Lions club in an effort to see to it that all boys in Lima between the ages of 10 and 18, are taught how to swim, will give a public demonstration of the many strokes used in the sport, Friday morning.

They will use no water, pool or "swimming" hole, for the demonstration, a three exhibition can be given in a downtown store window, they report. The Thomas Grocery in the Savings building on W. Market-st has offered its window.

The exhibition will start promptly at 11 o'clock Friday morning and will continue thru the day.

Two days remain during which time boys may file applications to receive the free swimming lessons. I. G. Maxwell, of the Y. will start instructing the boys on Monday of next week.

CAR JUMPS TRACKS

A Western Ohio railway freight car jumped the track on E. Wayne-st early Thursday and crashed into a boulevard light standard, snapping it off. Nobody was injured.

BERRIES HOLDING FIRST PLACE ON MEAL CARDS

Strawberry shortcake will be the prevailing dessert for days to come, if the berry crop can be taken as any indication of what will top off the menus at dinner time, it is said. County Farm Agent H. J. Ridge points to the fact that berries are plentiful this year. Strawberries especially are coming into their own. Many people grow their own. Start of the raspberry season is near. Rain promised by the weather man will help the berry crop along, Ridge says. He also points to the fact that rain will hasten the development of the delayed fruit crop. Canning is becoming the popular indoor sport.

POLICE DISTURB WINE PARTY

Woman, Two Men Arrested in Wee Hours of Morning, Fined

Wine flowed abundantly, police say, at a party in the home of Mamie Carmine, 27, 111-1-2 E. Wayne, which they broke up at 3 a. m. Thursday, arresting the woman, Raymond Murphy, 25, of 726 E. Vine-st and E. B. South, 25, of 641-1-2 S. Main-st.

A bottle less than half filled with liquor was confiscated and the woman pleaded guilty Thursday in criminal court to possessing it. She was fined $1. Half the penalty was suspended.

Murphy and South pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct before Judge Emmett J. Jackson and each was fined $15.

Neighbors aroused by the noise of the party called Police Sergeant McCoy who made an investigation. He found nothing and went back a second time with Officers Hargrove and Blair. The session had recommenced.

TINY TOTS IN ROLE OF LIONS IN LAMB CLOTHING

Two "Sheeps" enacted a modern version of the lion in lamb's clothing fable by substituting themselves, a soldier's gas mask and helmet, according to police.

Mrs. J. L. Shepherd, 537 S. Main-st, reported two boys named Sheeps residing on S. Union-st near Kibby, crawled thru a basement window and walked away with an overcoat and trophies of the late war, valued at $35.

Then they went fishing. Police recovered the stuff and escorted the boys to headquarters after they returned home, for a certain lecture explaining a promise that never more would they try to change another fable.

The boys are aged four and five years.

RATES HALT O. E. PURCHASE

Ohio Power Co. Fears Initial Cost of Proposed Changes

MAY REACH AGREEMENT

City Manager Bingham Optimistic Over Situation

Property of the Ohio Electric Railway Co. may not be taken over by the Ohio Power Co., subsidiary of the American Gas and Electric Co., it was indicated Thursday.

A proposed ordinance fixing rates for electrical power which would be in effect if the property was taken over and power brought in from the West Virginia coal fields, was rejected by the city commission Wednesday night.

AGREEMENT NECESSARY

It is understood that while the Ohio Power Co. is dickering for the heat, power and light interests owned by the Ohio Electric, the deal will not be consummated unless they and the city can agree on the rates to be charged.

Representatives of the Ohio Power Co. assert they will be at tremendous expense if they bring an unlimited amount of power into Lima. Not only will the transmission lines have to be built but the local power plant will be junked, city commissioners were told.

This heavy initial expense will make it impossible for as low a rate to be charged as is now in force they say. Increased cost to consumers will range upward from 11 percent, C. A. Bingham, city manager, said Thursday.

Lima needs an unlimited amount of electrical power but should not be compelled to pay an excessive charge in order to get it, commissioners believe.

COMMISSION ANXIOUS

Members of the commission are desirous of coming to an agreement with the eastern company but are unwilling to force higher rates upon power consumers in the city, Bingham said.

It is probable that other propositions will be presented to the commission by the Ohio Power Co. in the near future. Settlement may be reached on the present rates, Bingham stated.

Meanwhile certain of the larger industrial plants are preparing to install their own generating plants in order to assure themselves that they will have an adequate amount of power at all times, Bingham said.

THE LAWS OF OHIO

Are Designed To Protect Citizens From Misrepresentation and Fraud

The Lima Better Business Bureau Proposes to See That Ohio's Merchandising Laws Are Enforced Here

Lima Must Be Free From Those Who Lie in Advertising

Lima Must Be Free From Misrepresentation of Quality or Value

Lima Must Be Free From Stock Salesmen With Worthless Paper

Lima Must Be Free From Itinerant Vendors of Worthless Merchandise

AS The Better Business Bureau succeeds in carrying out this program it will have proved its worth to every man, woman and child who lives in Lima or who can reach Lima to do business. We solicit the support and encouragement of all. Without wholehearted cooperation we cannot fully succeed.

Behind Every Advertisement Is a Man

The men who use advertising to honestly tell their story, ask the public to have faith in advertising. And that faith of the public in advertising be not illy placed, these business men know that it is necessary that all advertising be honest and truthful.

To accomplish this purpose leading business concerns of the city, working with the Advertising Club, have established the Better Business Bureau, an organization working to the end of making all the advertising truthful and of service to the public.

The Better Business Bureau is the ally of the public and the honest business man, the foe of those who would debase advertising by betraying the reader.

Newspaper Cooperation

The Lima newspapers are cooperating with the Bureau to drive out fraudulent advertising, to the end that both local and national advertisements appearing in Lima newspapers may be read with confidence.

Legitimate advertisers are intent upon making their printed word truthful and effective. Both the newspapers and the truthful advertisers realize that every advertising lie injures not only the liar and the customer defrauded, but by destroying public confidence, injures every legitimate business, and the entire community as well. Hand in hand the Lima Advertising Club, the newspapers and the Better Business Bureau are co-operating to clean the liar out of business here.

A Declaration of Principles

Believing that the success of any phase of business is measured by its service to the public, we have become a member of the Better Business Bureau, joining with other members in an endeavor to make all selling methods in Lima, Ohio, of the utmost service to the public.

We therefore declare that:

- 1—Our advertising shall always state the truth. Moreover, it shall contain no statement, which, although literally true, may convey a false impression.
- 2—Our employees shall in no way misrepresent merchandise, but shall make their spoken statements conform to the high standard of service set forth above.
- 3—We expect of others the same adherence to trustworthiness in advertising and selling to which we, ourselves, subscribe and commend newspapers and other advertising mediums that have taken steps to eliminate deceptive, and therefore harmful, advertising from their space.

Either we, or the Better Business Bureau with which we co-operate, will welcome a statement from any person showing that we, or any advertisers or employees, have violated these standards.

When An Agent Calls

How often the public is imposed on by fake agents and solicitors calling at the home and collecting money in advance on fake magazine subscriptions, merchandise, books, etc. The object of the Bureau is not to discourage legitimate solicitors, but to protect the legitimate solicitor and house wife from swindle. When an agent without sufficient identification presents himself his proposition will be investigated by the Bureau. Get the representation of the agent fully. Find out just whom he claims to represent. If he has printed advertising matter or a company prospectus get a copy. Get all the information you can and give it to the Bureau for investigation before you buy, subscribe or invest.

Let Us Investigate Before You Invest

Standing Squarely and Acting Fairly

Honesty is the best policy—the only policy on which any truly successful business can be founded and profitably maintained.

Truth in manufacturing, truth in selling, truth in advertising are necessary in every business and in all transactions.

The idea of putting something over is a thing of the past. You can fool some of the people some of the time. In the end you get just what you put in—no more and no less.

The quality built into an article constitutes its true worth—not the price put upon it. The cost depends largely upon economy in manufacturing and distribution and a fairness in pricing.

The retailer who buys the best, sells on a close margin of profit, advertises honestly, is working for your best interests.

Ready for Service

The Better Business Bureau, offices are at Rooms 3 and 4 Eilerman Building, 115-117 West Market Street.

If you have any reason to doubt the truth of any advertised statement you see in Lima print—take it up with the Bureau.

If you have failed to secure a fair deal in any Lima business house take it up with the Bureau.

If you find any merchandise has been misrepresented to you take it up with the Bureau.

If you are asked to invest in any stocks or bonds take it up with the Bureau. Let us investigate before you invest.

It does not cost you a penny to get all the services the Bureau is organized to give.

RECORD CLASS TO GRADUATE

199 Will Get Diplomas at Combined Commencement

EXERCISES FRIDAY NIGHT

Hundred Fifty From Central, Forty-nine From South

Central and South High schools will hold their annual commencement exercises Friday at 8 p. m. at Memorial hall, when 199 students among whom are 150 from Central High and 49 from South High, will be graduated. Diplomas also will be presented to 31 members of the joint county normal school. Sixteen are from the city and 15 from the county.

It is one of the largest groups ever graduated from Lima schools. For that reason the class will not be seated on the stage at Memorial hall, but will occupy seats on the main floor. Tickets for the exercises will first be given to graduates. The general public will be offered seats remaining at 2 p. m. Friday. The tickets may be had at Memorial hall.

Dr. E. B. Bryan, of Ohio State university, will deliver the annual commencement address. His subject will be, "The Unfilled Task."

The list of graduates is as follows:

RAIN FORECAST BY WEATHER PRO

At last, the long looked for boon for suffering mankind is promised by the weatherman. The prolonged spell of warmth that has gripped this city for weeks, now threatens to be broken, or at least temporarily relieved, according to the latest reports from the weather bureau. Predictions declare that thundershowers Thursday night or Friday, will relieve the situation. Clouds have been gathering all day, and a sultry feeling has pervaded the atmosphere. Wind was practically missing all day. Everything points towards a fulfillment of the prophecy. Farmers, particularly, welcome the predicted wet weather. Crops are badly in need of rain, they say.

"BOTTLED DEATH" WIDELY SOLD

Danger in Bootleg Whiskey Pointed Out by Experts

NINE OF 10 SAMPLES POISON

Hootch Gathered From 15 Cities is Analyzed

WASHINGTON. — (Special.) — When you drink bootleg the chances are better than nine out of 10 that you are drinking rank poison—"bottled death."

The Lima News thru NEA Service has established this by chemical analyses of 28 samples of bootleg bought in 15 cities scattered throughout the nation.

The samples have been analyzed by government experts. Only two of the 28 samples proved to be whiskey of pre-prohibition quality. One of these was purchased in Boston; the other in Washington. Two more were synthetic gin—held passable. One of these samples was from Cleveland, the other from Los Angeles.

But bootleg consumers in Boston, Washington, Cleveland and Los Angeles need not jump to the conclusion that because these samples were passable, all bootleg vended in these cities is safe. For other samples bought in these places proved dangerous.

Of the remaining 24 samples, 15 were doctored and diluted whiskeys or whiskeys produced from an alcohol base and artificially colored and flavored; 17 were raw moonshine of varying degrees of weakness; one was poor beer containing wild yeast; and one was a distilled wine, of poor quality.

WHERE COLLECTED
Samples were collected from these widely scattered cities: Dallas, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; Denver, Col.; Norfolk, Va.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Birmingham, Ala.; Cleveland, Chicago; Seattle, Wash.; San Francisco, Cal.; Los Angeles, New York; Providence, R. I.; Boston and Washington.

They are bought from a wide range of bootleg channels and analyzed without selection. They came from drug stores, bell boys, bootleggers, barbers, porters, milkmen, near-beer saloons and similar channels of the trade, with a few seized in official raids.

The samples were assembled in Washington, and analyzed for the Lima News and NEA Service by government chemists in government laboratories.

The analyses showed that when you buy bootleg you get nearly always a dangerous concoction of colored and disguised alcohol, or a raw distillate full of aldehydes and volatile poisons that will leave you with an awful headache the day after drinking, and a wrecked constitution after repeated doses.

PERILOUS TO HEALTH
The "aldehydes" found in the moonshines and doctored whiskeys are elements intermediate between alcohols and acids. They are derived from the higher alcohols by the oxidation and removal of a certain hydrogen content and the addition of a very small amount of oxygen converts them into active acids.

"The effect of these aldehydes," says William V. Linder, government chemist, "is to 'knock one out' much more quickly than would high-grade whiskey."

"Their consumption over any considerable period undermines the general constitution in a point where it seems much more susceptible to many diseases."

"While not immediately poisonous, causing sudden blindness or death as does methyl or wood alcohol, their effect is definitely and cumulatively harmful."

DANGEROUS ELEMENTS
The dangerous elements in moonshine and doctored whiskeys, for most part, Linder explains, are due to the unsanitary distilling and blending, and to the unsanitary surroundings in which most of the operations are carried on.

"Moonshine," says Linder, "is produced for most part under the most unsanitary and unsanitary conditions. The mash is fermented in barrels or tubs, usually in the open backwoods or in musty cellars. Under such conditions, the development of wild yeasts and unwholesome fermentations are common. Many moonshines show evidences of active putrefaction."

"In distilling, too, all the volatile elements come over. In commercial distilling, for the production of high-grade whiskeys, it was the custom to discard what was known as the 'heads,' or first run, containing the high alcohols and the more volatile oils, and the 'tails' or the last run. Only the middle run was retained."

USE ALL ELEMENTS
"The moonshine, however, runs it all in—heads, tails and middles. The elements that the commercial distiller carefully eliminated, therefore, remain in moonshine."

"Moonshine, moreover, normally receives no aging. Hence it retains all the injurious qualities inhering to a raw distillate containing high alcohols, aldehydes and fusel oil, and also whatever additional poisons or injurious chemical elements may have accumulated thru improper and

GIVES UP LIFE TO AID TEACHERS

Illinois Instructress Pays "Supreme Sacrifice" in Fight

DISMISSED, KILLS SELF

Hailed as Martyr to Cause by Associates

ELGIN, Ill. — (Special.) — The halo of a city's reverence rests on the memory of Mary Long. She committed suicide, but today she is called "the school teacher martyr," her death "the supreme sacrifice."

Mary Long died, this city recognizes, to awaken America to the shameful lack of appreciation the nation shows for its teachers. Already her death has created such an awakening in Elgin.

Mary Long taught school 27 or her 47 years. She was a leader in the teachers' long and futile fight for better pay and better treatment. Twice the teachers, backed by a committee of citizens, tried to elect to the school board members favorable to their plea for higher wages, improved working conditions and the removal of Superintendent Robert I. White.

TEACHERS DISMISSED
Both times the teachers' tickets failed. The last time was in April. Immediately Miss Long and 14 other teachers were dismissed. All were leaders in the Elgin Teachers' Association.

Then Mary Long drank poison. Those who know her best say she sacrificed herself because she was determined to attract the community's full attention to the injustice dealt the teachers.

So the teachers' fight for fair treatment has been given new impetus. Mrs. Charles W. Cornell and Mrs. F. D. Adams head a citizens' committee which has dedicated itself to carry on Mary Long's fight till victory.

It looks as if all the discharged teachers would be reinstated.

OFFICIALS' ATTITUDE
Targets of attack, President E. H. Abbott of the school board and Superintendent White deny the teachers have been unfairly treated, and say the dismissals were for the good of the schools.

The city's sympathy has gone out to Mary Long's mother, who lives in a tiny cottage here.

"My daughter is dead," she says, "but she died so that the world might know what the teachers are fighting for. I am proud that she died so others might have justice."

Teachers throughout the country, individually and thru their organizations, have sent letters of encouragement and support to Mary Long's associates.

LETTER OF CHEER IS QUICKLY FOLLOWED BY MESSAGE OF DEATH

Mrs. Rebecca Worline, 77, long-time resident of Lima up to ten years ago, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Williams, at Hermosa Beach, California Wednesday, according to information received here by her niece, Mrs. A. E. Mowery, 332 Prospect-ave.

In the morning Mrs. Mowery had received a letter from her aunt, telling her of anticipated movements and prophesying a pleasant summer. Cause of her death is unknown.

Mrs. Worline was a sister of Albert Kefner, Bellefontaine-ave, the one of whom is left of a large family of children. Besides her daughter, with whom she made her home, a son Herbert, of Hermosa Beach, and two grandchildren, survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in Hermosa Beach and interment will be in that city.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

William H. Shinn, Montpelier attorney, will make the race for nomination of State Senator on the Democratic ticket in the 32nd district. He formerly represented Williams in the state assembly. His candidacy has been filed in Williams. He was learned Thursday. He will oppose Earl F. Ferguson of Van Wert.

JURY FAILS ON VERDICT

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. — The jury in the case of Ramon Spinoso, union mine, charged with violating an injunction restraining interference with the operation of the Wellsburg mines of the West Virginia-Pittsburgh Coal Company, was discharged in federal court here today. The jury failed to reach a verdict after deliberating 24 hours.

WANTS FURNITURE

Action to replevin furniture alleged to be unlawfully seized was filed in common pleas court by Carl Shaw, 709 Dingleline-av, vulcanizer against Lida Allstetter. Shaw contends that the defendant has his furniture, valued at $26, and that it was obtained without due process of law.

Unsanitary fermentation and unsanitary distilling. "All these elements, even including in one case signs of putrefaction were present in the samples in this test."

Aldehydes, high alcohols and volatile oils in moonshine have a directly injurious effect on the circulatory, kidney and nervous systems, according to Reid Hunt, former chief of the Division of Pharmacology, Hygienic Laboratory, U. S. Public Health Service.

Also they result in "an increased liability to contract diseases or to contract them in especially severe form."

Among the ailments which these elements are generally recognized in the medical profession as aiding and abetting are:

Hardening of the arteries. Cirrhosis of the liver. A wide range of digestive disturbances.

Strawberry shortcake will be the prevailing dessert for days to come. If the berry crop can be taken as any indication of what will top off the menus at dinner time, it is said. County Farm Agent H. J. Ridge points to the fact that berries are plentiful this year. Strawberries especially are coming into their own. Many people grow their own. Start of the raspberry season is near. Ridge promises that the weather man will help the berry crop along. Ridge says. He also points to the fact that rain will hasten the development of the delayed fruit crop. Canning is becoming the popular indoor sport.

POLICE DISTURB WINE PARTY

Woman, Two Men Arrested in Wee Hours of Morning, Fined

Wine flowed abundantly, police say, at a party in the home of Mamie Carmine, 37, 111 1-2 E. Wayne, which they broke up at 3 a. m. Thursday, arresting the woman, Raymond Murphy, 25, of 726 E. Vine-st and E. E. South, 25, of 641 1-2 S. Main-st.

A bottle less than half filled with liquor was confiscated and the woman pleaded guilty Thursday in criminal court to possessing it. She was fined $1. Half the penalty was suspended.

Murphy and South pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct before Judge Emmett J. Jackson and each was fined $15.

Neighbors aroused by the noise of the party called Police Sergeant McCoy who made an investigation. He found nothing and went back a second time with Officers Hargrove and Blair. The session had recommenced.

TINY TOTS IN ROLE OF LIONS IN LAMB CLOTHING

Two "Sheeps" enacted a modern version of the lion in lamb's clothing fable by substituting themselves, a soldier's gas mask and helmet, according to police.

Mrs. J. L. Shepherd, 537 S. Main-st, reported two boys named Sheeps residing on S. Union-st near Kibby, crawled thru a basement window and walked away with an overcoat and trophies of the late war, valued at $35.

Then they went fishing. Police recovered the stuff and escorted the boys to headquarters after they returned home, for a certain lecture exacting a promise that never more would they try to change another fable.

The boys are aged four and five years.

Ohio Power Co. Fears Initial Cost of Proposed Changes

MAY REACH AGREEMENT

City Manager Bingham Optimistic Over Situation

Property of the Ohio Electric Railway Co. may not be taken over by the Ohio Power Co., subsidiary of the American Gas and Electric Co., it was indicated Thursday.

A proposed ordinance fixing rates for electrical power which would be in effect if the property was taken over and power brought in from the West Virginia coal fields, was rejected by the city commission Wednesday night.

AGREEMENT NECESSARY
It is understood that while the Ohio Power Co. is dickering for the deal, power and light interests owned by the Ohio Electric, the deal will not be consummated unless they and the city can agree on the rates to be charged.

Representatives of the Ohio Power Co. assert they will be at tremendous expense if they bring an unlimited amount of power into Lima. Not only will the transmission lines have to be built but the local power plant will be junked, city commissioners were told.

This heavy initial expense will make it impossible for as low a rate to be charged as is now in force they say. Increased cost to consumers will range upward from 11 percent, C. A. Bingham, city manager, said Thursday.

Lima needs an unlimited amount of electrical power but should not be compelled to pay an excessive charge in order to get it, commissioners believe.

COMMISSION ANXIOUS

Members of the commission are desirous of coming to an agreement with the eastern company but are unwilling to force higher rates upon power consumers in the city, Bingham said.

It is probable that other propositions will be presented to the commission by the Ohio Power Co. in the near future. Settlement may be reached on the present rates, Bingham stated.

Meanwhile certain of the larger industrial plants are preparing to install their own generating plants in order to assure themselves that they will have an adequate amount of power at all times, Bingham said.

THE LAWS OF OHIO

Are Designed To Protect Citizens From Misrepresentation and Fraud

The Lima Better Business Bureau Proposes to See That Ohio's Merchandising Laws Are Enforced Here

Lima Must Be Free From Those Who Lie in Advertising

Lima Must Be Free From Misrepresentation of Quality or Value

Lima Must Be Free From Stock Salesmen With Worthless Paper

Lima Must Be Free From Itinerant Vendors of Worthless Merchandise

AS The Better Business Bureau succeeds in carrying out this program it will have proved its worth to every man, woman and child who lives in Lima or who can reach Lima to do business. We solicit the support and encouragement of all. Without wholehearted cooperation we cannot fully succeed.

Behind Every Advertisement Is a Man

The men who use advertising to honestly tell their story, ask the public to have faith in advertising. And that faith of the public in advertising be not illy placed, these business men know that it is necessary that all advertising be honest and truthful.

To accomplish this purpose leading business concerns of the city, working with the Advertising Club, have established the Better Business Bureau, an organization working to the end of making all the advertising truthful and of service to the public.

The Better Business Bureau is the ally of the public and the honest business man, the foe of those who would debase advertising by betraying the reader.

Newspaper Cooperation

The Lima newspapers are cooperating with the Bureau to drive out fraudulent advertising, to the end that both local and national advertisements appearing in Lima newspapers may be read with confidence.

Legitimate advertisers are intent upon making their printed word truthful and effective. Both the newspapers and the truthful advertisers realize that every advertising lie injures not only the liar and the customer defrauded, but by destroying public confidence, injures every legitimate business, and the entire community as well. Hand in hand the Lima Advertising Club, the newspapers and the Better Business Bureau are co-operating to clean the liar out of business here.

A Declaration of Principles

Believing that the success of any phase of business is measured by its service to the public, we have become a member of the Better Business Bureau, joining with other members in an endeavor to make all selling methods in Lima, Ohio, of the utmost service to the public.

We therefore declare that:

- 1—Our advertising shall always state the truth. Moreover, it shall contain no statement, which, although literally true, may convey a false impression.
- 2—Our employees shall in no way misrepresent merchandise, but shall make their spoken statements conform to the high standard of service set forth above.
- 3—We expect of others the same adherence to trustworthiness in advertising and selling to which we, ourselves, subscribe and commend newspapers and other advertising mediums that have taken steps to eliminate deceptive, and therefore harmful, advertising from their space.

Either we, or the Better Business Bureau with which we co-operate, will welcome a statement from any person showing that we, or any advertisers or employees, have violated these standards.

Standing Squarely and Acting Fairly

Honesty is the best policy—the only policy on which any truly successful business can be founded and profitably maintained.

Truth in manufacturing, truth in selling, truth in advertising are necessary in every business and in all transactions.

The idea of putting something over is a thing of the past. You can fool some of the people some of the time. In the end you get just what you put in—no more and no less.

The quality built into an article constitutes its true worth—not the price put upon it. The cost depends largely upon economy in manufacturing and distribution and a fairness in pricing.

The retailer who buys the best, sells on a close margin of profit, advertises honestly, is working for your best interests.

Ready for Service

The Better Business Bureau, offices are at Rooms 3 and 4 Eilerman Building, 115-117 West Market Street.

If you have any reason to doubt the truth of any advertised statement you see in Lima print—take it up with the Bureau.

If you have failed to secure a fair deal in any Lima business house take it up with the Bureau.

If you find any merchandise has been misrepresented to you take it up with the Bureau.

If you are asked to invest in any stocks or bonds take it up with the Bureau. Let us investigate before you invest.

It does not cost you a penny to get all the services the Bureau is organized to give.

When An Agent Calls

How often the public is imposed on by fake agents and solicitors calling at the home and collecting money in advance on fake magazine subscriptions, merchandise, books, etc. The object of the Bureau is not to discourage legitimate solicitors, but to protect the legitimate solicitor and house wife from swindle. When an agent without sufficient identification presents himself his proposition will be investigated by the Bureau. Get the representation of the agent fully. Find out just whom he claims to represent. If he has printed advertising matter or a company prospectus get a copy. Get all the information you can and give it to the Bureau for investigation before you buy, subscribe or invest.

MEXICO HOLDS UP TRADE GROWTH

Refuses to Pay Interest on Millions in Bonds

SITUATION CALLED GRAVE

America and Several European Countries Interested

(BY B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK. — (Special.) — No one thing would do more to clear the business and financial world than an announcement that complete agreement had been reached between the Mexican minister of finance, Adolfo de La Huerta, and the American and foreign bankers who are speaking for the holders of Mexican government obligations at their series of conferences now being held in New York on Mexico's debt.

Unfortunately, no definite news of an encouraging nature has yet come from the conference room.

Unless genuine progress in the negotiations is reported within the next day or two, serious apprehension will be felt over the situation. Should a rupture finally occur, the effect would be extremely unfavorable. It would be particularly disappointing to Americans, but it would also create a very bad impression in Britain, France, and other European countries.

Briefly, the position is this: Mexico sold several hundred millions of bonds to American, English, French, German, Dutch, Belgian and other investors outside its own borders, and has not paid a dollar of interest on these bonds since 1914.

The holders of these securities claim that the Mexican government's income is now two or three times what it was before the outbreak of the world war and that there is no fair reason why interest payments should not be resumed.

Investors in this and other countries also hold mortgage bonds of Mexico's railway system on which interest is not being paid. These bondholders, naturally, are dissatisfied. They complain that since the government took over the running of the railroads the management has not been such as they would like to see it, and they have many times suggested that the roads be put back under non-government management so as to hasten the return of profits sufficient to meet the outstanding obligations.

Leaving out of consideration the railway phase of the situation, it is difficult to understand why an amicable agreement cannot be reached on the main question if both sides have been sincere in their announced anxiety to settle the whole matter.

Mexico's finance minister has frankly declared that Mexico is anxious to keep faith and preserve her standing in the eyes of the world by doing everything possible towards meeting her obligations.

The representatives of the bondholders have avowed that, in order to enable Mexico to do this, they are willing to compromise their legal claims by not for a moment insisting upon full cash payment of the back interest now due.

Notwithstanding this publicly expressed attitude, on both sides, very little headway appears to have been made despite the fact that several lengthy conferences have already been held.

Of course, Mexicans belong to a race that doesn't go in for "Yankee hustling." Latin-Americans always contrive to find time to be punctiliously polite. They don't consider time devoted to observing the fullest measure of courtesy and politeness and convention as wasted. Life, in their eyes, is something more than business. They do business merely to live, not live merely to do business.

Therefore, it may be that after some further delay, Mr. de La Huerta and the international committee will get down to serious business and enter into an agreement satisfactory alike to the Mexican government and people and to the investors who purchased Mexican government bonds in the sincere belief that they were very high-grade investments.

Should the conferences, unhappily break up in disagreement, Mexico will suffer by grave impairment of her credit and standing among the nations of the world, while American business and American labor will suffer thru the wrecking of that substantial expansion of business which all calculated would immediately be stimulated by the restoration of friendly relations with our important southern neighbor. The issue being so important for both sides, it will be deplorable of either does not go to the very limit in seeking to reach an equitable compromise.

The public shall expect a very full and frank and fair account of the whole proceedings should the hopes which have been built up be blasted, so that it may be possible to allocate the blame justly. But meanwhile they are still hopeful of tangible results.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle: "General Hooker's Defeat."

FORD WON'T RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

Boom Started by Club Organization Surprise to Him

OPPOSED BY HIS WIFE, TOO

Only Interested in Shoals and Money Reformation

DETROIT. — (United Press) — Henry Ford is not a candidate for the presidency. He would not "turn his hand" to obtain the nomination, according to close associates here.

Ford, it is said, has but two interests today, outside his automobile business, Muscle Shoals and his plan for reformation of the existing basis for money. He is taking no part of any kind in various senatorial contests throughout the country, despite frequent invitations and has observed the results in Indiana and Iowa with only casual interest.

Ford, declare close friends, will certainly never be a candidate for the presidency or any political office if Mrs. Ford has any voice in the matter.

Mrs. Ford is thoroughly opposed to her husband taking any more activities that will unduly tax his time and strength. For this reason alone, it is said, she has never been an enthusiastic supporter of the Muscle Shoals proposition as her husband.

SURPRISE TO FORD
The action of the people of Dearborn in forming a "Ford" club was a complete surprise to Ford. He has never recognized the club in any way. When it was recently suggested to him that he might be visited by a committee, he replied that he "was too busy to see any committee."

Thousands of letters have been received at Dearborn urging Ford to be a candidate or, at least to take on some form of political leadership. These suggestions have been met with silence. Ford's distaste for politics is well known. He has frequently declared "politics is a curse to the country."

WITH HIGHEST HONORS
Helen Irene Meehling, 20, a resident of Perry-pk. and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Meehling, will be graduated from the Ohio State school for the Blind in Columbus, Sunday, at the head of her class in academic achievements.

Miss Meehling made a grade of 100 per cent in stenography and typewriting. She will take a course in an office training school in Columbus.

Miss Meehling won many prizes at the Perry-pk. school during the past few years with her fine baked goods and needlework. She is also a talented pianist.

POLICE BUSY LECTURING KIDS WHO PLAY PRANKS
No better indication that school days are over has been received by police than the large number of juvenile pranks which are reported these days by irate homeowners who have felt the rise of the youth's bump of humor.

They keep police busy chasing down complaints, it is reported. Sometimes they are caught in the act by the coppers and severely lectured.

THIRD CANDIDATE MAY ENTER

U. M. Shappell Secures Intention Blank for Congress Race

JUDGE CROW IN AGAIN

Filing Extended Until Friday Night by Board

U. M. Shappell, Bath-pk. farmer and oil baron may be an added starter in the Democratic race for Congress.

Shappell has been an aspirant for the nomination before, but never landed the plum. A declaration of intention blank has been secured by Shappell at the office of the election and he is expected to have it filed Thursday.

If Shappell should enter the race he will be the third candidate. His entry may cause other candidates who have been holding off, to come in.

CROW FILES
Phil M. Crow, who has been a candidate for a second term on the bench in district court of appeals, for some time, filed Thursday.

Judge Crow formerly resided in Kenton, but has made his home in Lima since being a member of appeals court. He resides at 417 W. High-st. He is running as a Democrat and is to have some opposition in his own camp.

Democrats have one or more candidates for every office on the ticket, but the G. O. P.'s have three holes to plug up in their lineup. No one has filed for nomination as county surveyor, clerk of courts, or county coroner.

One vacant chair will be filled Thursday by Walter R. Toy, present county surveyor, who will race for another two year hitch. Dr. A. C. Adams, may come in again for coroner, but there are no prospects in sight for clerk of the courts.

FILING EXTENDED
Unless some Republican comes forward, John P. Cotner, present clerk and candidate for nomination on the Democratic ticket will win in a walk.

Filing will be extended one more day, A. J. Morris, clerk of the board of elections announced Thursday. June 8 had been fixed as the date for closing, but an additional 24 hours is to be allowed by the board to accommodate late comers.

DON'T HIDE LICENSE TAG; IT WILL COST YOU

Failure to display auto licenses properly will be regarded in the future with as much gravity as not having them at all, according to police Thursday. The first fine on the charge was assessed against Norman O'Brien, 538 W. Spring-st., whom police said had his car tagged, but one of them so placed that it was invisible.

Many truck drivers put licenses on end gates and when let down it appears the cars are not tagged, police say. Another thing that will be required is that a white light shall shine on license plates at night time.

Russell Thomas, 233 1-2 S. Main-st., was fined $5 for parking in a safety zone.

JOHNS ASKS WIFE TO AMEND DIVORCE PETITION

Motion asking that the defendant be required to make more definite and certain statements made in an answer in the divorce action brought by Jesse R. John against Edith John was filed in common pleas court Thursday.

Plaintiff asks that his wife amend portions of the answer which asserts that she did not leave of her own free will and accord and is ready and willing to return.

Executive Committee Issues Call For Participants

A call for 1,000 persons to take part in the Allen-co. Historical Pageant, to be held at the Allen-co. fair grounds June 29 to July 4, was sent out Thursday morning by the executive committee in charge.

This committee was chosen at a meeting of the special committee held Wednesday night. The special committee, Glen Webb, Earl C. Miller and Judge Ernest Botkin, was appointed by the organization planning the pageant.

Members of the committee and the organizations they represent are: William Stolzenbach, Masons; Mrs. Kent Hughes Federation of Women's Clubs, Dava Rosenheim, Moose and Eagles; Julius Callahan, K. of C.; R. E. Ashley, Lions; Morris Rosenbloom, Better Business Bureau; Dale Creamean, Elks; L. E. Ludwig, Rotary; C. L. Bingham, city of Lima and E. C. Miller, American Insurance Union.

All persons willing to aid in the monster pageant are asked to leave their names at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters of the pageant director, J. L. Shaffer. More than 1,000 will be needed to make it a success, the executive committee announced.

An organization meeting of the executive committee will be held later in the week and more definite plans as to the different events to be portrayed will be made.

Officers of the director have been opened in the Chamber of Commerce offices and preparations for the pageant are progressing at a rapid rate. Absolute historical accuracy is planned in all the events portrayed.

Isaac E. East, 126 N. Elizabeth-st., will oppose Julius Callahan for Democratic nomination for county recorder. He filed his declaration of intention at noon Thursday. He is engaged in the real estate business.

CUSTER ADMINISTRATOR OF MOTHER'S ESTATE

Guy Custer, 742 W. Wayne-st., former county recorder, was appointed administrator of the Estate of his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Custer, 213 N. Park-av. by Judge J. H. Hamilton in probate court Thursday.

An estate of $1,900 was shown on the application for letters of administration. Custer's bond was fixed at $4,000 by the court.

INCOME TAX DUE, OFFICER WARNS

Penalty for Failure to Pay by June 15, Says Collector

Only seven more days left in which to pay your income tax installment. It is due June 15. A penalty will be imposed if it is not paid on time, J. C. Marsh, deputy collector of internal revenue, warns.

Of the thousands in this locality who owe the government money only a few have remitted to date, Marsh stated. Payments are being received very slowly. A great rush the last day is expected.

A deputy collector will be in charge of the internal revenue office each day from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. until the final taxpaying day has passed. The office will run on Central Standard time, one hour slower than Daylight savings time.

All special taxes such as those assessed against bowling alleys, pool rooms and oleomargarine dealers will be due July 1, the beginning of the next government fiscal year, Marsh said.

Glands the Source of Strength and Energy

The Newest, Swiftest Road to Youthful Vigor and Health for Men, Women and Children.

Your glands control the functions of all your organs; your heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, even your brain are dependent upon the vital gland secretions, and most weakness or ailments in these organs result from glandular insufficiency.

Strong, Active Glands Make a Vigorous Body.

Your Most Important Glands

The world's foremost medical minds have worked for years upon the problem of restoring or rebuilding a strong, active gland system resulting in a vigorous, healthy body, and to supply the vital gland secretions to the system as they are being absorbed, without surgery.

The result of their combined efforts is found in DRUSEN-KRAFT (Youth-Gland) Tablets composed of the essential ductless gland secretions. It is the quickest and most effective rebuilding and rejuvenating tonic ever known.

DRUSEN-KRAFT (Youth-Gland) Tablets have been prescribed by European and American doctors, and the remarkable results, some of which were reported in our newspapers and medical journals, make DRUSEN-KRAFT (Youth-Gland) Tablets the standard of thousands of men and women who have been made young and healthy by the use of this medicine.

Make the test yourself! Results are quick—yet will feel the added strength and vigor almost immediately. Literature free from your druggist or direct from us. One week's treatment $1.25. Is sufficient to start on when ordering, determine whether you wish the "Male" or "Female" treatment.

MEXICO HOLDS UP TRADE GROWTH

Refuses to Pay Interest on Millions in Bonds

SITUATION CALLED GRAVE

America and Several European Countries Interested

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK. — (Special.) — No one thing would do more to cheer the business and financial world than an announcement that complete agreement had been reached between the Mexican minister of finance, Adolfo de La Huerta, and the American and foreign bankers who are speaking for the holders of Mexican government obligations at their series of conferences now being held in New York on Mexico's debt.

Unfortunately, no definite news of an encouraging nature has yet come from the conference room.

Unless genuine progress in the negotiations is reported within the next day or two, serious apprehension will be felt over the situation. Should a rupture finally occur, the effect would be extremely unfavorable to Americans, but it would also create a very bad impression in Britain, France, and other European countries.

Briefly, the position is this: Mexico sold several hundred millions of bonds to American, English, French, German, Dutch, Belgian and other investors outside its own borders, and has not paid a dollar of interest on these bonds since 1914.

The holders of these securities claim that the Mexican government's income is now two or three times what it was before the outbreak of the world war and that there is no fair reason why interest payments should not be resumed.

Investors in this and other countries also hold mortgage bonds of Mexico's railway system on which interest is not being paid. These bondholders, naturally, are dissatisfied. They complain that since the government took over the running of the railroads the management has not been such as they would like to see it, and they have many times suggested that the roads be put back under non-government management, so as to hasten the return of profits sufficient to meet the outstanding obligations.

Leaving out of consideration the railway phase of the situation, it is difficult to understand why an amicable agreement cannot be reached on the main question if both sides have been sincere in their announced anxiety to settle the whole matter.

Mexico's finance minister has frankly declared that Mexico is anxious to keep faith and preserve her standing in the eyes of the world by doing everything possible towards meeting her obligations.

The representatives of the bondholders have avowed that, in order to enable Mexico to do this, they are willing to compromise their legal claims by not for a moment insisting upon full cash payment of the back interest now due.

Notwithstanding this publicly expressed attitude on both sides, very little headway appears to have been made despite the fact that several lengthy conferences have already been held.

Of course, Mexicans belong to a race that doesn't go in for "Yankee busting." Latin-Americans always contrive to find time to be punctiliously polite. They don't consider time devoted to observing the fullest measure of courtesy and politeness as a convention or a waste of time. In their eyes, it is something more than business. They do business merely to live, not live merely to do business.

Therefore, it may be that after some further delay, Mr. De La Huerta and the international committee will get down to serious business and enter into an agreement satisfactory alike to the Mexican government and the people and to the investors who purchased Mexican government bonds in the sincere belief that they were very high-grade investments.

Should the conferences, unhappily, break up in disagreement, Mexico will suffer by grave impairment of her credit and standing among the nations of the world, while American business and American labor will suffer thru the wrecking of that substantial expansion of business which all calculated would immediately be stimulated by the restoration of friendly relations with our important southern neighbor. The issue being so important for both sides, it will be deplorable of either side not to do the very best it is seeking to reach an equitable compromise.

The public shall expect a very full and frank and fair account of the whole proceedings should the hopes which have been built up be blasted, so that it may be possible to allocate the blame justly. But meanwhile they are still hopeful of tangible results.

FORD WON'T RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

Boom Started by Club Organization Surprise to Him

OPPOSED BY HIS WIFE, TOO

Only Interested in Shoals and Money Reformation

DETROIT. — (United Press) — Henry Ford is not a candidate for the presidency. He would not "turn his hand" to obtain the nomination, according to close associates here.

Ford, it is said, has but two interests today, outside of his automobile business, Muscle Shoals and his plan for reformation of the existing basis for money. He is taking no part of any kind in various senatorial contests thruout the country, despite frequent invitations and has observed the results in Indiana and Iowa with only casual interest.

Ford, declare close friends, will certainly never be a candidate for the presidency or any political office if Mrs. Ford has any voice in the matter.

Mrs. Ford is thoroughly opposed to her husband taking any more activities that will unduly tax his time and strength. For this reason alone, it is said, she has never been as enthusiastic over the Muscle Shoals proposition as her husband.

The action of the people of Dearborn in forming a "Ford For President" club was a complete surprise to Ford. He has never recognized the club in any way. When it was recently suggested to him that he might be visited by a committee, he replied that he "was too busy to see any committee."

Thousands of letters have been received at Dearborn urging Ford to be a candidate or, at least to take on some form of political leadership.

These suggestions have been met with silence. Ford's distaste for politics is well known. He has frequently declared "politics is a curse to the country."

No better indication that school days are over has been received by police than the large number of juvenile pranks which are reported these days by irate homeowners who have felt the rise of the youth's bump of humor.

U. M. Shappell Secures Intention Blank for Congress Race

JUDGE CROW IN AGAIN

Filing Extended Until Friday Night by Board

U. M. Shappell, Bath-tp farmer and oil baron may be an added starter in the Democratic race for Congress.

Shappell has been an aspirant for the nomination before, but never landed the plum. A declaration of intention blank has been secured by Shappell at the office of the election and he expected to have it filled Thursday.

If Shappell should enter the race he will be the third candidate. His entry may cause other candidates who have been holding off, to come in.

CROW FILES
Phil M. Crow, who has been a candidate for a second term on the bench in district court of appeals, for some time, filed Thursday.

Judge Crow formerly resided in Kenton, but has made his home in Lima since being a member of appeals court. He resides at 417 W. High-st. He is running as a Democrat and is to have some opposition in his own camp.

Democrats have one or more candidates for every office on the ticket, but the G. O. P.'s have three holes to plug up in their lineup. No one has filed for nomination as county surveyor, clerk of courts, or county coroner.

One vacant chair will be filled Thursday by Walter R. Toy, present county surveyor, who will race for another two year hitch. Dr. A. C. Adams, may come in again for coroner, but there are no prospects in sight for clerk of the courts.

FILING EXTENDED
Unless some Republican comes forward, John T. Colner, present clerk and candidate for nomination on the Democratic ticket will win in a walk.

Filing will be extended one more day, A. J. Morris, clerk of the board of elections announced Thursday. June 8 had been fixed as the date for closing, but an additional 24 hours is to be allowed by the board to accommodate late comers.

Glands the Source of Strength and Energy

The Newest, Swiftest Road to Youthful Vigor and Health for Men, Women and Children.

Your glands control the functions of all your organs; your heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, even your brain are dependent upon the vital gland secretions, and most weakness or ailments in these organs results from glandular insufficiency!

Strong, Active Glands Make a Vigorous Body.

Your Most Important Glands

The world's foremost medical minds have worked for years upon the problem of retaining or rebuilding a strong, active gland system resulting in a vigorous, healthy body, and to supply the vital gland secretions to the system as they are being absorbed, without surgery.

The result of their combined efforts is found in—
composed of the essential ductless gland secretions. It is the quickest and most effective rebuilding and rejuvenating tonic ever known.
DRUSEN-KRAFT (Youth-Gland) Tablets have been prescribed by Europe's foremost doctors and the remarkable results, some of which were reported in our newspapers and medical journals, make DRUSEN-KRAFT (Youth-Gland) Tablets the standard of thousands of homes. Men and women who had become feeble and lost all appearance of youth (all vigor and health suddenly found new life and energy instilled in a flash).

Take the test yourself! Results are quick—60 will feel the added strength and vigor almost immediately. Literature free from your druggist or directly from us. One week's treatment, $1.00, is sufficient to start on. When ordering, designate whether you wish the "Male" or "Female" treatment.

Drusen-Kraft Chemical Laboratories, Ltd.
56 East Randolph St., Chicago, Illinois

To be sure to get the genuine gland treatment, say DRUSEN-KRAFT tablets to your druggist. One week's size, $1.25.

LIMA'S AWFUL RIVER

IT is not a pleasant subject, comment concerning Lima's alleged river, known as the Ottawa, or Hog Creek, more appropriately known during the summer months, judging from the odor arising therefrom.

It's something that cannot be sidestepped—the odor. Likewise, the river is a fixed thing. It cannot be changed, save at an enormous expense in diverting the flow of water to a new channel to the north or south of the city and then there would be no place at all for the dumping of the city's sewage until such time as the intercepting sewers and disposal plant are ready for use.

The people of this city face at least one more summer of Ottawa river odor. What cannot be cured, must be endured and there seems to be no way of curing Hog Creek, save thru the method adopted by the city commission. Plans are rapidly going forward for intercepting sewers and a disposal station.

Early summer is upon us. There are at least four months which may be expected to produce warm weather. It requires cold weather to kill the nauseous smell arising from the river. The city commission might be able to aid the situation to some extent by the purchase of large quantities of disinfectant, to be dumped into the river when the water is at its lowest stage and inactive.

In any event, it is a pleasing prospect that with the completion of the sewer system and disposal station, the river can be made a city asset instead of a menace, as it is at present.

WOMEN AS JURORS

JUDGE FRED C. BECKER is quite right in lifting the ban that has prevailed in Allen-co against women jurors. There was but one reason for failure of the officials of the county courts to draw the names of women for duty as designed by the 19th amendment, which places them on a parity with men in voting and holding office. That must be remedied now.

Due to the fact that there have been no proper quarters in the courthouse for mixed juries, should a case in litigation require that the jury remain locked up over night in arriving at a verdict, women were not called upon for jury duty. It is now up to the county commissioners to make such changes at the courthouse as will meet the new condition. Refusal on their part to do so would be a serious breach of duty.

Under the constitution, women are entitled to the same prerogatives as men in governmental affairs and in the matter of duty in public life. They are aiding in shaping the affairs of their communities, counties, districts, state and the nation. Sweeping changes in the matter of widening their sphere of usefulness were thrust upon the womanhood of America suddenly. They are meeting the situation bravely. Altho the new order is strange and bewildering to many of them, they are doing their part. Necessarily, it must be a matter of time and education.

In other counties of Ohio women have been serving on juries during the past 18 months. Allen-co has been out of step with the procession. Judge Becker's order to the jury commission, revising his former stand has placed this unit of the commonwealth on a parity with others in broadening the opportunities for women to serve as citizens, under the provisions of the suffrage amendment.

YOUR GREATEST POWER

SERGEANT ALVIN YORK, "greatest hero of the World War," again is in a run of good luck.

A few months ago, it looked as if he would lose his farm thru inability to meet payments on its $13,000 mortgage.

A month in vaudeville would have brought York enough money to handle the mortgage.

George still on Central Standard. Dee on Eastern, and my wife, poor wretch, holding out for Daylight Savings. Breakfasted on sliced oranges bathed in olive oil and wheat biscuit.

So out in the brave sunshine, and feeling fit to the office. Where busied all the morning thru probing why business sticks in a rut. And five pay rolls for me this month. Which, praises be, does not occur again until September. Why can't I change payroll dates from Friday to Saturday, move 'em up this month like we do the clocks. 'Fraid the printers would back like the court house folk.

Out, and over in front of Frank Hayman's big furniture emporium, met the genial Dr. G. L. Steer, the eminent practitioner and real estate judge. A few years ago, Doc bot a house for many thousand dollars and sold it to me for more thousands, and I sold it to another ambitious American for still greater thousands. So, I have been following Steer around ever since. Trying to buy what he buys, right after he

YOU KNOW WHAT TEDDY USED TO DO, WARREN

But he said, "I would far rather lose my farm, and go back to work upon it as a common day laborer, than to commercialize the fame which was only incidental to an act of Providence."

Many have marveled at Sergeant York's modesty. The explanation is, he has faith in Divine Guidance, which carried the early pioneers thru many a hard time.

York's corn crop last year was a bad one—low in bushels, low in dollars. Like millions of others, he was a victim of deflation of prices.

This did not discourage York. He kept repeating:

"Religious faith sustained me in my danger and removed my fear. And He will see me thru."

At times it seemed that there was no hope, no way out.

But never did York's faith waver.

Now the mortgage is gone, paid off by the Nashville Rotarians.

Some will call it a windfall.

Cynics will call it chance.

The spiritually wise will call it the fruit of faith.

Faith is the mightiest power we possess. It takes various forms, ranging from confidence in self or luck to belief in Divine Guidance.

No human career can be carried thru to success without faith, the mover of mountains. This is a universal belief, shared by all religions among people in all stages of barbarism or civilization, and it is the force behind all prayer.

It is an unhappy individual who has no faith in creed, Creator, human nature and fellow-man.

Without faith, the world would be a rotten one in which to live, and life would be drab and futile.

Cultivate faith, to hasten arrival at your goal.

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

YOUR SLEEP

By DR. R. H. BISHOP
A certain amount of restful sleep is required of every individual who would be normally healthy.

Any disorder or disturbance of sleep may be serious, especially in the elderly. Individuals vary greatly in the amount of sleep they require, and at different ages there are different needs. Some few of us can get along even on four hours, but most of us need at least eight and sometimes ten. There are also temperamental differences, and variations resulting from habit and circumstances.

Infants sleep most of the 24 hours. At 4 years, 12 hours are needed; at 14, 10; at 17, 9 1-2 and 7 or 8 during adult life. In old age continuous sleep is rare, but frequent naps by day as well as by night maintain a fair average. More sleep is required in cold than in temperate or warm climates.

A cool, dark, quiet, well-ventilated room, comfortable bed, and adequate but not excessive covering are conducive to sleep. A preparatory period of sleepiness to natural, and in case of insomnia ought to be cultivated. Habit is all powerful, here, as generally. Regular hours for retiring and arising are most important.

Practically every deviation from health is marked by disturbances of sleep. Once a bad sleep habit is established it tends to persist. Many people are hereditarily poor sleepers.

Hunger, over-feeding, indigestion, gout, kidney trouble, various drug additions, tea, tobacco, alcohol, fever, malaria, lead-poisoning, too much or too little blood in the brain, heart maladies, discomfort, pain, nervous exhaustion, mental preoccupation, intense study—such are among the causes inclining to sleeplessness.

THE WHISTLER

A little boy went whistling,
A-whistling down the street;
And Fate, grim, gray and bristling,
And Failure and Defeat,
Before which I had cowered,
Became but phantoms then—
And with new vigor dowered,
I faced the world again!

A boy with lips a-pucker
And heart that knew no care,
He brought me aid and succor
When I was in despair;
What tune his lips were shrilling
I do not know—but I
Felt all my spirit filling
With hope and courage high!

Oh, there are fugues that thunder
And symphonies that glow
With glory and with wonder,
But when my heart is low,
When all life's paths are bristling
With woes too great to meet,
Give me a small boy whistling,
A-whistling down the street!

Miles That's What You're Buying

It's the cost of your mileage that determines your tire economy, not the price of the tires. It's the extra thousands of miles that make Firestone Cords the choice of taxicab operators and other big mileage consumers.

You can't buy mileage today cheaper than Firestone is selling it—regardless of what you pay to begin with.

What will give the Most Miles per Dollar determines the processes and methods Firestone employs. For instance, Firestone Cords are built oversize, cured on air bags and the cords gum-dipped—because these processes add thousands of miles to tire service.

Most tire makers find such operations too difficult and costly from a manufacturing standpoint, but Firestone engineers found the successful and practical way to employ them.

The result is that Firestone Cords are not only outstripping all previous mileage records this year, but the cost to the user is the lowest in history.

"JUNE DROP" HITS APPLE CROP

Due Here in Two Weeks, County Farm Agent Says

FARMERS WORRIED, REPORT

Frosts Cause Leaves to Fall From Fruit Trees

Allen-co farmers are worried because of the tendency of leaves and fruit on apple trees to fall off, H. J. Ridge, county farm agent, said Thursday.

In many parts of the county both the leaves and the small fruit are falling from the trees and covering the ground. Questions have been pouring into fruit men asking what can be done.

"There is no need to worry because the leaves fall off," Ridge said. "They were injured by the frost and would do the tree no good if they stayed on."

FEW HARMED
It is only the leaves close to the tip of the present years growth which are harmed. Those at the tip of the branches and the last to open are uninjured and will supply the needed plant food to the tree, he believes.

Dropping of apples is caused by unfavorable conditions at blossoming time. The fruit did not set well and as a result is suffering from "June Drop," Ridge states.

A complete survey of the state shows that "June Drop" has already started in the southern portion and is rapidly moving northward. It will strike with its full force in Allen-co in the next two weeks, fruit experts believe.

Rome Beauty apples are being the hardest hit at the present time and the belt which produces them is expected to be the most damaged by the "drop," Ridge has been advised.

In many portions of the apple belt the farmers are predicting but a 40 percent yield. It is felt that the Allen-co crop will not be affected that much.

IN GOOD CONDITION
At the present time the Yellow Transparent variety of apples are showing up to the best advantage. The early varieties are in especially good condition, varying of course as to whether the orchard is high or low.

A very good peach crop is expected, not only in Allen-co but also in the peach belt along the lake shore. Cherries, plums and pears are not showing up so well, due to the damage received by them from late frosts.

South-central and south-western portions of the state were not hit as hard by the late frosts as Allen-co and other portions of the state, Ridge says.

MRS. W. L. ROGERS HONORED WITH CLUB LUNCHEON

MRS. ROY SEALTS and Mrs. Earl E. Winemiller presided at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elks' Home, Thursday, in honor of their sister, Mrs. W. L. Rogers, who will leave in the very near future for her new home in Louisville, Ky.

Small tables surrounded the one large table at which the honor guest and a group of 15 of her intimate friends were seated. Centering the large table was a handsome silver basket filled with pink rosebuds. Pink cathedral candles, in silver candle-holders, burned softly throughout the luncheon hour. A color scheme of pink and white was artistically carried out in the decorative effect. Following the luncheon an afternoon of bridge was enjoyed.

Guests included Mrs. Rogers, the honor guest, Mrs. J. M. Mills, Mrs. M. Sealts, Mrs. W. C. Bradley, Mrs. S. S. Sealts, Mrs. V. W. Pugsley, Mrs. W. E. Booth, Mrs. Otis T. Lippincott, Mrs. W. C. SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I HAVE a very serious problem and am coming to you for some help. Why is it that when a girl begins to show a boy that she cares for him he usually drops her friendship? I went with a very nice boy for some time. He told me that he was crazy about me. Then he told me that he liked him to become indifferent and just several evenings ago I saw him at the picture show with another girl. This hurt me terribly and I am very unhappy. I care for him so much, but now I know that he no longer cares for me. I am 16 years old.

SUCH a dreadful problem to confront a young miss of "Sweet Sixteen." Just be a sensible girl and don't take yourself, your boy friend nor this little incident too seriously.

You forget that young boys as well as young girls, especially when they are only in their teens, enjoy the company of different friends and do not care to keep company with one person all the time. Like your boy friend you, too, should have other friends and go with other boys.

Young people of your age are much too young to exchange a declaration of love. If your friend invites you out, accept his invitation and treat him as you would any other good boy friend. It is a great mistake for any girl of your age to become too seriously interested in one boy.

Yes.
Dear Miss Smart:
(1) Where may I purchase the book, "The Little Girl's Guide to Love?" (2) Is my writing good?

(1) If you are unable to purchase the book at a book store you may obtain it at the Public Library. (2)

Dear Miss Smart:
Please publish a recipe for a rose jam.

Pick fresh rose petals and dry them in the sun for two days. Then pack them in a wide-mouthed jar in layers with a sprinkling of ordinary table salt between each layer. When the jar is full, turn the petals out on a large sheet of paper and mix them thoroughly with the following mixture (which any drug store will prepare): Two drachms alcohol, 10 drops bergamot, 20 drops eucalyptus, four drops oil of roses; one half teaspoon cloves, one ounceorris root, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon mace, one ounce of preferred sachet powder and three drops oil of orange. Put the petals back in the jar and the work is completed. Some rose jars have perforated covers, some are perforated on the sides, but if you wish to use any jar you have, simply tip the cork or cover of it slightly—so that the aroma may escape.

WHITE AND RED FROCKS
At New York's most fashionable hotel recently a dinner dance revealed that nearly every woman present was dressed in all-white frocks or bright red. It is easy to figure which was the choice of the blond and which of the brunet.

PLAIN RUGS
Plain colored rugs are very good taste. For bedrooms these may be of blue, rose or green. For living rooms gray or tan are the best choice. The dark colored ones are very attractive, but show every footstep. Black rugs are liked by some decorators.

TAFFETA BLOUSE
A white taffeta blouse, joined to a much draped and puffed back taffeta skirt, makes a Frenchy little outfit that delights the brunet who wears her hair very plain and dangles long pendents from her ears.

SILVER ROSES
Silver roses, lavishly distributed, make very effective decorations on a frock of rose-colored chiffon.

WHY FLAPPERS FAIL! Wrong Viewpoint on Life

(BY AGNES DOHONEY)
(Selected as Convention Girl by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in a contest from which all flapper types were barred and only "home types" were fitted.)

Are they truly happy? Or do they fool themselves about regarding happiness, as they do about other things?

If so, there is another reason for the failure of flappers. To be an "old-fashioned girl" involves an admission that the eternal search for contentment all sins and ends in the home; that a fluff, for that matter, circles about the home. Yet all definitions of the flapper declare her to be a person to whom the home has little significance; a person lacking in sympathy and respect for parents.

This sort of attitude eventually must bring about a general hardening process.

Contentmentlessness toward the breeding place of love, toward the parents—how can such attitude bring contentment? It strictly and sincerely accepted what hope is held for happy wedded life? It is inconsistent to consider such a possibility.

Happiness has seldom been found where home life is held in contempt and selfishness is all-import. Furthermore the chances for ultimate happiness seem mighty slim. And if the flapper cannot, and happens or contentment then surely her quest is in vain.

(More on "Why Flappers Fail," by Miss Dohoney, tomorrow.)

SAUSAGES FOR SUMMER MENUS

While the use of pork during hot months is more or less taboo, sausage is very acceptable, for frankfurters to the delicately seasoned imported sausages. These sausages are delicious sandwich fillings or can be served sliced with salad or cold meat or lightly broiled and served with mayonnaise and lettuce on toast as an open sandwich.

Smoked pork sausage is always good in summer just as an smoked meat or fish.

LUNCHEON SAUSAGE
Put the small link sausage in a frying pan. Pour over boiling water to half cover. Cover closely and simmer until water evaporates. Prick each sausage with a fork and fry to a delicate brown on all sides. Drain on heavy paper, a meantime prepare fresh pineapple fan-shaped slices. The slices should be not more than three-eighths of an inch thick.

Put the pineapple in the pan the sausage was cooked in. Sprinkle with sugar and simmer over a slow fire till the fruit is tender. It will take 15 minutes.

If the sausage was not very fat

MALINE TURBAN
For evening, women are wearing very smart little turbans or hats of maline. They keep the hair in a perfect shape, but do not have weight enough to disarrange it in any way. The transparent effect is charming.

TAFFETA SUITS
Taffeta frocks and suits, estimated with monkey fur, are the latest Paris importations. These come in red or blue or orange silk.

OUR FIRST YEAR

—BY A BRIDE—

How Bonnie, My Flapper Pal, Makes Mistake in Love
A NOTHER incident stands out in the performance of "Skool," Bonnie's pet affection, is being perfectly honest about her feelings. She applies her theory indiscriminately, mercilessly.

Bonny insisted upon kissing Jack every time she greeted him at the Little Playhouse. "I like kissing people I like," she explained to Jeanne, who had reproved her. "I kiss my relatives and girl friends because I like them. I kiss Peg. I like her. Why shouldn't I kiss her husband? I like him. It's the same thing."

"I guess that's the whole trouble with flappers. They can't see reasons for conduct—but reasons exist just the same," said I to Me. "Girls have been granted the power and influence of adults nowadays, but they haven't any backgrounds of experience and sense. I wonder if she is trying to make me jealous?"

Then it dawned on me suddenly that Bonnie was kissing Jack in order to make Bart envious!

Bart was handsome, a regular movie hero. Girls of all ages were crazy about him. He was obliged to hold a reception on the stage every night.

"Peggy!" he would plead. "Keep between me and the flappers!"

"Don't you like 'em, Bart? Why not?"

"Young men don't," he replied. "Because the old men have manufactured the modern cuties. Old wasters, like George Bradshaw, like ignorance in girls. But their idea of the perfect flapper looks silly to me. And to lots of the boys."

Said I to Me:

"This is news for Bonnie!"

"Peggy, does the vamping flapper think young men are blind and deaf? Haven't most of us grown up with sisters? Haven't we observed the ways of girls from infancy right at home?"

"Can't we distinguish the natural from the artificial? Why, we're not one bit imposed upon! It's silly for a flapper to think she can fool us because she can fool the old men so easily! See?"

I nodded. I could see Bonnie was

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is HALE. It is pronounced like "hail," a word however, to which it is otherwise entirely unrelated, being an older form of "hail," for which it is practically an exact equivalent.

It means—to hail, to pull or draw with force, to drag, hence, to compel to go along. It comes from—"hailer," of German or Scandinavian origin, and is akin to Anglo-Saxon, "gchollan," to acquire or get, to Danish, "halen," to fetch, pull or draw, to Old High German, "halon," to Swedish, "hala," and perhaps to Latin, "calare," to call or summon.

It is used like this—"The sailors haled at the ropes, or, more commonly in news English of the day, 'Various attempts have been made to hale Boris Bakhmeteff,' retiring Russian diplomat in this country, before a congressional committee."

CHAPTER IV
THE INNER CIRCLE
They caught the afternoon train for the city. It was a perfect summer evening in June. They mounted the knobby spiral to the top of a big old house and swayed across the top of the house, almost as if they were flying. The house was a big, old, brown house with a high roof and a small porch. The house was a big, old, brown house with a high roof and a small porch.

Sanctuary slowly down Forty-Ninth, they found the address of the inner circle, a big old brown house midway in the block west of the Avenue, back of a high wall with plain brass knobs. The door opened into an English hall. Two or three smart men were drawn up along the curb. "Rebberick!" nodded Dick, hesitating a bit. Garrick turned in at the gate and pressed a button by the side of the door. "Aren't I select enough for the inner circle?" He straightened with true British swank. The door swung open. Garrick slipped nothing, explained nothing, and he passed the Americanized butler. It had been a beautiful gesture on Garrick's part. The most difficult thing had been accomplished on sheer nerve. "Monseur Georges—ah I live!" Garrick grasped the hand of a butler, a very dark Frenchman with a black, pointed mustache.

ankle. "Honest to God, Vira, I love you!" Then he added fervently, "I want to get you in my racer, soon, and well out to some nice quiet spot, like Camp Place used to be... and I'm going to tell you: I about it. Will you let me tell you... how much I love you?" "Dear boy, I'm just lying to go on that ride with you." Her eyes were sparkling like dew drops on a green leaf in the morning sun. Vira knew it, meant them to sparkle. At a lower level she would have reasoned, how could one get over dramatic moments on the screen unless one lived them? As it was more felt.

"Make it tomorrow, Vira, Glenn took her hands and toyed with the ring finger on the left hand. "Well, you dummies!" laughed Rae, suddenly poking her pretty piquant face around the corner. "What are you doing, Vira? Rehearsing a scene on Glenn? You're not falling for it, are you, old dear?" With a struggle of her shoulders and her arms akimbo, she threw her head back and laughed sliverly. Quickly leaning her beautiful body forward she waved a mocking finger toward Glenn. "With three cock-tails, Vira, he would say the things to me. Don't believe a word he says."

Somehow, Rae's peculiar remarks bred distrust in both lovers. They glared at her for the interruption. But they both fell for it. "Love claims all or none," is just as true among the sophisticated as among the simple. Suddenly sitting down, Rae beckoned a boy. "Three soothing syrups in a hurry!" Then, turning to her companions, she said, lower, "I have some important news for you. I've been hunting all over for you."

Her voice dropped to a "bzz-bzz-bzz" Georges had been called away from Garrick and Dick to some of his multitudinous business in pleasing the ultra particular. They strained their ears. "I was just up there." Then a break. "And it came in over Pinkie's wireless from... It was lost. It said, Watch out for Garrick and Dick... They got ashore... To New York... Get them out of the way for good."

Garrick and Dick exchanged glances. "Forewarned, forearmed," whispered Dick. "Our forearms are about all we've got, too!" There was a swish of someone passing the door and along the hall. Dick started. It was Ruth herself! Both he and Garrick were on their feet in a moment, quietly, down the hall after her and around a heavy carved newell post up the stairs to the second floor.

She turned, as she heard their steps in the wide hall on the second floor. "And along came Ruth!" exclaimed Garrick, smiling. "What are you boys doing here? Snooping again? It's bad idea. Snoopers never come to any good end!" She laughed, but neither could be so obtuse as not to see that there was a kick in it. She had her hand on the knob of a door at the end of the hall. She turned it, looked in, shut the door again and faced them.

"Show us around, Ruth. I'm crazy about this shack." "Well, Guy, you might think I was a megaphone man in a Chinatown-for-a-dollar rubber neck bus... or the guide in many museums. Just what do you want to see this time?" Her lightning mind seemed to tune itself to a fine adjustment. She did not wait for a reply. Instead, she opened the door and admitted them into a very pink room. "Wait here a minute. Does anybody know you are here?"

No one but Georges. She did not wait for more explanation but went in the hall again, closing the door softly. Garrick, running true to form, opened a cedar chest between two closet doors. He beckoned Dick. "A radio frequency amplifier!" he muttered to Dick. "All wired up!" He closed the chest upon the complete paraphernalia, thought a moment, then stood up on it, running his fingers along the picture molding that circled the room. He blew the dust from his fingers and wiped them on his handkerchief.

"About forty feet of wire placed behind the picture molding about the room where it's out of sight... The receiving outfit in a cedar chest where no one can see it. Humph!" Dick went over it, making a hasty examination of his own. "A loop outfit of this kind gives pretty fair results over reasonable distances, altho it doesn't cover the same distance that the same equipment would if it were used with a good antenna. Still, during the summer when there are many lightning storms and static is at its worst the loop is an interesting means of receiving. To begin with, the loop is safe from lightning since it can be used indoors. More than that, it doesn't pick up static like the usual antenna. It doesn't make use of a ground connection. It only intercepts a small portion of the usual energy intercepted by a good antenna. So the radio frequency amplifier."

RUTH BROUGHT THEM TO A LITTLE IRON DOOR.

looking keenly at the color scheme of the lounge. "Pink-Pinky... I was just up there... gather that the threat... or warning... came over this wireless. From the 'Bachante'? It's running thru my mind. '5-23-22 230 cases S. S. Arozo. CKGG'. This is CKGG. Do you hear to get it?"

Dick nodded, half comprehending. "As the ear about little Willie, 'What next? What next?'" Ruth opened the door quietly, mysteriously. She seemed to be laboring under high nervous tension. "You saw the dance floor and dining room downstairs. And you met Georges. I guess you can guess that anything Georges has anything to do with will be at least a little bit of a mystery."

"Everything is class and in taste," admitted Dick. "It has atmosphere, and all that." He longed to go on with more personal questions. But Garrick's presence restrained him. Ruth beckoned them out in the hall. It was noticeable that she was discreetly quiet. "Of course, I can't show you around up here. You see, these are the lodgings of about half a dozen members and believe me, they pay. That was a lounge, really for ladies." She was leading them back down the thick-carpeted hall. She came to a door. "There's one thing you might be interested in." She opened the door and it appeared to be a back flight of stairs for the servants in the old days when it had been a residence.

Ruth started down the stairs and they followed past a door that evidently opened on the parlor floor, then down another flight that led to the former basement. Luscious odors of cooking smote the nostrils. They emerged back of the reception hall thru which they bluffed the butler at the door. Here was the kitchen, beautiful, a gem of a place. It did Georges credit. Ruth turned, opened another door and disclosed a stairway down into the cellar, in which a light was burning. She started down and the door closed behind them.

"What's all this?" inquired Dick, amazed, as he reached the foot of the stairs and saw weights and rollers on the walls on one side, a couple of punching bags, heavy mats, gloves, an apple handball court, in fact a quite complete little gymnasium in the cellar with a very good ventilating device. "Down the passageway, on either side are showers and we're having two steam rooms put in."

Ruth was, however, moving toward the front of the building. "I suppose you've been wondering," she said, "where are the things you usually find in a cellar." She paused and opened a door in the front, then with a twinkled added, "The boating apparatus!" There was a big, white-ash-stained low-pressure boiler and a row of ash cans. Dick's face fell and Ruth laughed outright. "That was a mean one, Dick. Disappointed? I get you. Well, as I was saying, the most interesting part of a house nowadays is the cellar."

She winked and stood before a little iron door. "This must be what you expected. The vault... only this is built out under the sidewalk. Now... gloat!" She swung the door open. It was dark and dank inside and cobwebby. The light from the cellar did not shed any ray into the vault. Ruth held the door, smiling, gently took Dick's arm and guided him in, then Garrick.

"Strike a match—if you want to see some good stuff!" Dick struck a light. A glaring light pouring in. He ran his hand up alongside and but as he did so a rush of air extinguished it and back of them clanged the iron door. There was a grinding of a bolt. "Confound it!" growled Garrick at letting himself be trapped. A gong began ringing, stridently. It seemed as if the very floor on which they were moving. There was a metallic noise overhead. Garrick looked up. It seemed as if the earth was opening above them and over his head. There was a heavy iron bow, U-shaped but inverted. They were rising. The top of the U seemed to be putting iron doors on either side. "Hauk it!" growled Garrick. "The ash lift!" Up the little elevator rose, the bell still ringing to warn passersby on the sidewalk, up to the street level, then stopped. Back of them was the iron grill of the inner circle. Dick looked at the fence, then at Guy and laughed foolishly. They stepped off the lift. Slowly the platform began to sink and as it did the pair of folding iron doors closed down again over the U. Just as they clanged shut there came a voice merrily from the depths. "You can't slide down my cellar door!"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NANCY, NICK SET FORTH TO SEEK COMET-LEGS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Those wicked old fellows don't like anybody," said Mr. Peerrabout.

"And now," said Mr. Peerrabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, handing the sapphire shaker with its magic powder to Nick, "suppose you start off and hunt up old Comet-Legs for me, and sprinkle a little of this magic powder on his bow legs. "If any of it touches this jealous, fair his legs will immediately become straight, and he can never make his shooting-star again. His days of mischief will be over. He is a totally afraid of this powder and if he discovers you are after him he'll be harder than ever to get."

A Real Health-Breakfast

The morning meal is the foundation for a day of joyous work or a day of fretful worry. Cut out the heavy foods and keep the mind clear and buoyant and the body full of vim and energy by eating

Shredded Wheat

With Strawberries

Nothing so deliciously wholesome and nourishing. The crisp shreds combine naturally with fruit supplying the maximum of nutriment and keeping the bowels healthy and active. Delicious for any meal.

When you ask for Shredded Wheat be sure you get the original Shredded Wheat you have always eaten, made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.—always clean, always pure, always the same high quality. Two Biscuits with milk or cream, or with berries or other fruits, make a satisfying meal.

An entirely new kind of soap

Rinso

For all the regular family wash

No other soap is needed for the entire family wash

Just soaking loosens all the dirt

Let soaking do almost all the work for you instead of just a little. Soaking in big, lasting, lukewarm Rinso suds loosens all the dirt. A little dry Rinso rubbed on the places where the dirt is most ground-in removes every trace of it.

If you like to boil

A Rinso soaking makes boiling unnecessary, but if you like to boil your white cottons pour enough Rinso solution in your boiler to give you the suds you like. The other soaps and the soap powder you used to use are not needed with Rinso.

If you use a washing machine

Help it to do its best work. Rinso suds have the body needed to get clothes clean without any rubbing. With Rinso you do not have to use a soap powder—nor any other soap.

NOTE—In hard water it takes from 1/2 to 1 package of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

TOLD MIDNIGHT, NEW YEARS, IN A GRAVEYARD

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

THREE men sat down in a grave. The clock in the church tower pointed to 12. It was New Year Eve.

There were three human wrecks, thrown together in their sudden misery. Each with a bottle partly tipped and a brain partly twisted, they waited for the stroke of the clock to drink a curse to the new year.

One of them was David Holm who despite a cynicism born of a wasted life, still possessed a sense of humor.

"I'll tell you a little story to go with the gravestones," he said. And this is the story he told:

Holm had a friend, Geller, another wastrel who entertained a peculiar fancy. Geller believed that a dead wagon made the rounds of the universe stopping wherever there was sorrow, or crime, or despair, to gather up the souls of the new dead. Whoever died on the stroke of midnight of a new year was assigned to drive the wagon for the next year.

And so Geller always refrained from drink on New Year Eve. He took no chances with Death on that night. But it had been a lot to die on the stroke of 12 the previous New Year Eve and now, if his belief were true, he would be driving his grisley cart waiting to be relieved of his gruesome task.

The telling of that story amused Holm. He laughed in derision as he ended it.

Then a Salvation Army worker came to him, a lassie, who had tried to be Holm's friend, was dying and wanted to see him.

When Holm refused to go, his companions set upon him and beat him, leaving him for dead upon the grave. The clock struck 12.

The spectral wagon drove up. The driver got down. "Come out, you prisoner, from your prison!" he demanded. The spirit of Holm looked up and beheld the spirit of Geller.

The spirit of Holm was afraid of death and tried to hide in the miserable corpse that had been its haven in life. But the spectral wagon loaded Holm's spirit into the wagon and drove away to the home of the living Salvation Army lassie.

Thence to Holm's former home, the place where dwelt the wife he had beaten, the children he had neglected. Despair had settled on that home. The wife was mixing a poison potion to end her misery and that of her children.

The spirit of Holm got down on its knees in prayer. "Oh, my soul, what shall I do? What are the words the prayer, the words? Lord of Life and Death, save them!"

Holm came to. He had not died when his companions attacked him. He raced home. And now he is living happily with his wife and children, doing his best to make them forget the rotter he was.

All of the above is the story of "The Stroke of Midnight," the movie made in Sweden from "The Death Wagon," the story by Dr. Selma Lagerlof, Nobel prize winner. It was adapted and directed by Victor Seastrom. He is also the principal player. The film is having its premier American showing at the Criterion, New York.

Some of the characters in "The Stroke of Midnight," a grisly film effectively done. Victor Seastrom, director and star, is shown in the center.

"The Flash Man" will be the name of George Bronson Howard's story when it appears on the screen. Herbert Rawlinson will star.

Bert Lytell In "Alias Ladyfingers"—Sigma

Do you find yourself registering a thrill every time you see the name "Bert Lytell" advertised in a new picture? A number of us do, and those who do not, SHOULD. For in Bert Lytell's new picture we have been getting perfectly splendid acting, and his performance in "Ladyfingers" is all you could wish for.

To begin with, "Ladyfingers" is a good story for him, written by Jackson Gregory, and exceptionally well adapted to picture needs. In it Mr. Lytell does a little of everything. He opens safes; he repents; falls in love; heroically gives himself to the police, who haven't a thing on him; bravely serves his time; and comes out in time to take part in the grand finale. Its full of sweetness and humor and realism with the hero about as courageous and conscientious as you could want him.

"Don't you see," he tells the sweet old lady who offers to pay for everything he has stolen, "you can't buy my freedom. I've got to earn it." And you know he is right, and that he will have to earn it if he ever expects to find peace in his heart.

The photography is beautiful, and some of the scenery is so lovely it makes your throat ache. All supporting roles, as portrayed by Ora Carew, Edythe Chapman and De Witt Jennings, are above reproach. "Alias Ladyfingers" should form a perfectly good excuse for coming down town and dallying at the Sigma for an hour or so. It ends its engagement at that theatre today, as it's only playing a two-day stand.

"Some of the screen idols are now screen idols."

Help! Oklahoma City exhibitors have been charged with violations of the child labor laws because of the personal appearances of Wesley Barry. It has been our experience that all the hard labor of personal appearances is done by the audience.

Louis Mercanton, French producer, is to make "Serrati" for Famous Players.

George Archibault will direct Elaine Hammerstein in "Under Oath."

"Brawn of the North" is to be the title of the second picture starring Strongheart, the canine actor.

Renee Adoree will be Bill Russell's leading lady in "A Self-Made Man."

"Peg O' My Heart," starring Laurette Taylor, will be produced as a photoplay by Metro. Production will begin about July 5 in Los Angeles. Miss Taylor is resting at present after a strenuous theatrical season.

"The Son of Madame Sans-Gene" an Italian-made picture, will be released in this country by Goldwyn under the title, "A Daughter of Paris." Clayton Hamilton is editing it.

"The Face in the Fog" a magazine story, is being filmed under the direction of Alan Crosland.

For those who like simplicity in titles—"John Smith." That's the name of Eugene O'Brien's next.

Calumet is made under such exacting conditions—packed in such a scientific manner, that its leavening strength and purity never vary. It retains its original strength for months after leaving the factories.

When you tip the can to get the last spoonful, you know your baking will turn out all right—the last spoonful is the same as the first. This uniform quality of is cause for its big demand. Housewives know they can depend upon the results obtained—that climatic conditions or temperature cannot deteriorate its positive leavening power.

When you buy baking powder remember these facts—that a uniform leavener means bakings that do not vary in quality—that Calumet is uniform.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a lb. when you want it.

GROSS-BREAM SCRAP SMOKED UP BY LIMA GYM

Prospects Are Good

OBSTACLES which seemingly have made a fight between Babe Bream and Jake Gross, Lima featherweights, impossible have been surmounted, it is believed and a smoke-up for the bout is now darkening the pugilistic sky.

Charley Maxwell, matchmaker of the Lima Gym club, has become so obsessed with the idea that the Bream-Gross affair would be the biggest thing possible, opened negotiations today with Earl Smith, Jake's manager.

The position of the boxing commission is favorable, Maxwell says. It was opposed at first, but a change of heart is noticeable since Ed Schlatter announced that he is about to turn his fighters over and give up promoting. To Scotty Gowdy, wrestler and sportsman, will be assigned the task of managing Bream, it is announced. Gowdy has been right hand man to Schlatter during all Bream fights. He knows the latter's capabilities.

THEY WANT IT

"Fully two-thirds of the local fans want to see Gross and Bream decide who is the better man. There is no foundation to rumors that Babe is not capable of giving Gross a good fight. It would seem to me that Bream has been going better than Smith's boy," Maxwell declared.

The chief hindrance to the match has been the money matter, but it was intimated the Lima Gym club is prepared to meet one of Smith's demands—a guarantee of a percentage. There is no question that Gross is not entitled to it. To further make the bout worth while a side bet of $500 has been proposed by Smith. There is real doubt that it will be taken up by Bream's pushers.

Decision to extend every possible effort for the fight was arrived at when the club found that fight offers to Patsy Dugan of Toledo, Blockie Richards of Dayton, Willie Ames of Akron and others did not pan out.

OTHER MATCHES OFF

Their financial demands are too great and he does not see the feasibility of putting one of them on when a match between the local featherweights is looming with possibilities, Maxwell says. There is a whole lot more interest in the fight than in a re-match of Ames with Gross, a bout with the "Irish Wop" or the Dayton pride.

Babe Bream and Jake for the main go of the Fourth of July card at Murphy-st park—that appears to be inevitable.

Most College Stars In Pro Class

AN ARBOR, Mich.—Regent James O. Murfin of Michigan University offers $10,000 to anyone he is correct when he says the majority of college and university ball players are not amateurs, because they play professional ball during the summer.

Murfin's plan is to make it compulsory for every athlete enrolled in every college and university to write every week, stating just where he is. The athlete's word and the program could be used as evidence.

OFFER A REDUKE

The offer is a rebuke to a rebuke. Murfin is the only man in authority in college athletics who openly declares college amateurism largely a matter of pretension and hypocrisy. He has tried, for the last few years, to induce the western institutions to adopt his remedy, which is to grant permission to students to play professional or semi-professional ball during vacation.

According to the Murfin plan, a student who indulges in professional or semi-professional ball, nevertheless continues as a bona fide amateur, eligible for any college sport competition as long as he fulfills the other requirements.

But the college authorities told him that they did not harbor any "talented" athletes and absolutely refused that any of their students ever had accepted money for summer ball playing.

MONEY FOR GAME

According to several college athletes there are not 12 good college ball players in the state, at some time or other, receive money for playing ball. They say a large number of college players accept jobs with professional league teams after school closes and play league ball during the summer under assumed names. A few, it is stated, have been connected even with major league clubs.

Murfin offers constructive criticism and suggests a remedy. If the publication of the names of the men connected with college baseball, who also play professional, would destroy the foundation of college athletics, the bulk of college ball players are also football, basketball, swimming or track stars. That, he explains, comes from having received money for playing ball fees of them ever having been paid for football or any other sport.

WIFE BEATS BOXER

OMAHA, Neb.—Earl Puryear, bantamweight boxer, formerly of Denver, today has a divorce from Mrs. Grace Puryear, the divorce contingent however, upon an investigation by the juvenile court.

Puryear testified in domestic court yesterday that his wife "abused, bossed and beat" him, and that he "would rather face a champion" than his wife. Mrs. Puryear was not in court and Puryear said he did not know where she was.

BAXTER'S TWO MANAGERS

Don Baxter is between two fires. The Lima bantam is still the bone of contention between Walter Perry and Ed Schlatter and seems to be in fair way to be juggled back and forth for some time. Literally he has two managers.

Since the Lima boxing commission decided not to recognize contracts which carry Baxter's name unless Schlatter, his present manager, and Perry, his old mentor, settle their differences, the move has been to campaign him away from Lima as much as possible.

Perry broke the ice when he announced Baxter would fight for him at Bellefontaine Monday night against Harry Cay of Brooklyn. Schlatter has many prospective bouts, but has kept them under his hat because of the commission's decision. He may turn them over to Baxter and let him use his own judgment.

Baxter's position in the controversy is understood to be that he will grab off as many fights as he can, regardless of managerial differences. He has a family and cannot afford to remain idle until the final showdown between Schlatter and Perry.

HOW TO PLAY BASEBALL

"Stuffy" McInnis, Indians Star First Sacker, Gives Fielding Tips

(BY JOHNNY MCINNIS)
Who made Only One Error in 1921—Cleveland Indians

A GOOD glove perhaps is more essential to a first baseman than any other player, with the possible exception of the catcher. Frize such a glove, take the best of care of it, and do not permit any one else to use it.

Every one catches a ball differently, and such use changes the pocket which you have worn into the glove to conform to your style. Learn to squeeze every ball that is thrown to you.

Study your batters carefully as to where they are most likely to hit, and give consideration to their speed. They play accordingly.

If a man is fast, hurry to the bag on a hit to the infield, so that you can stretch to the limit thereby giving the infielder the benefit of the distance which you gain. It may mean the decision in your favor.

Have your foot in front of the bag, not on it. Then you will be in a perfect position to shift feet, if the direction of the throw demands it.

HANDLING BUNTS

On balls thrown by the third baseman into the runner, you must learn to play them. With your gloved hand, if you are a right-handed first baseman.

That is one of the most difficult plays. In practice, catch as many balls as possible in the gloved hand to perfect you in that play.

When a ball is hit to the infield, go fast to the bag and then take a look at the ball. If you run to the bag and try to follow the course of the ball at the same time, you are very likely to stumble over the bag.

Come in fast on a bunt if you desire to make a play at first, second or third.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

Record attendance of the season is expected at the fourth shoot of the season by the Lima Elks Gun club Friday at the grounds, end of E. Elm-st Friday afternoon. Weather conditions retarded events until last Friday—and the marksmen are anxious to be up and at 'em.

How a Jockey Won Fame and $70,000 In Month

By BOB DORMAN

NEW YORK—"A riding fool." That's what they call Jockey Alfred Johnson around the race track.

No opening is too small for him to attempt in a race, even the failure may mean a fall, with death or mutilation under pounding hoofs a possibility.

Yet with all his daredevil riding he is known as one of the coolest and most skillful riders in the game.

During the last month he has won $70,000 in three races, piloting Morvich to victory for a stake of $50,000 and putting the veteran Exterminator over twice, each time for a purse of $10,000.

IS UNASSUMING

No trace of his daredevilry shows in his appearance.

He is just a dark, slender fellow, quiet and unassuming, his one distinguishing feature a pair of keen, black eyes, looking out of a network of wrinkles, etched there by much gazing across sun-swept spaces.

He'd rather talk of the latest movie than discuss his daily work, tho his love for horses is the one supreme interest in his life.

He says:

"Ever since I was a kid I've loved horses."

"I was always hanging around the livery stables out in my home town, Spokane, Wash., helping feed and water the horses, carrying them, and I used to think that I was in heaven when I got a chance to ride one.

"All sorts of horses came to the stables those days and I naturally

Has Rare Eye For Picking Peaches

SAN FRANCISCO—Danny Long knows just how a manager feels when he goes out to catch the hot omelet in his native haunts. Or, the hot omelet in quest of a new orchid. Or a bugologist on the trail of some such butterfly as never was seen before.

Danny's trade is running down untried, but potential baseball stars.

His latest stunt was conclusion of the $100,000 deal by which Willie Kamm, San Francisco Coast League player, became the property of the Chicago White Sox.

He lists some of his earlier discoveries as follows:

Frank Chance, found on a sand lot in Fresno.

Hal Chase, purchased in 1904, from Los Angeles for $750.

Duffy Lewis, bought for the Boston Americans.

Babe Ruth, a 1903 find.

Pling Bodie, discovered in Napa in 1911, and Buck Weaver, who came to light in the same year.

Cravath, Claude Williams, Risberg, Charley Street, Fred McMullin and others too numerous to mention," as Danny expresses it.

"How do you do it?" Danny was asked.

"I do it on the strength of a lifetime of experience studying the playing of baseball," he said.

SIX CLANS ON INDEPENDENT INVITATION LIST

Bookings for a full month, with possibilities that the strong Duquesne club of Cleveland and the City Hall team of Chicago may be secured, have been made by the Lima Independent management.

The schedule calls for a game here July 2 with the picturesque diamond clan of the House of David, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

The team is nationally known and could be playing league ball if a decision to forsake the cloister would be arrived at. Players wear chin sprouts of 20 years or more growth, but the adornment does not interfere with their playing.

Sidney Elcoes will be here for a game Sunday. The following Sabbath Ft. Wayne Colored Giants are booked and June 25 the classy Page Dairies of Toledo will be down for a setto.

The management is banking strongly in the Duquesnes, whose line-up includes former big leaguers of the calibre of Terry Turner. The Duquesnes and the City Hall aggregation would draw immense crowds, it is believed, the Chicago team especially, as it includes players of major league ability such as Dick Kerr, Douglas McWeeny and Ray Demmy.

Big Swats Featured

NEW YORK—Home run bats that have been in temporary retirement in the major league races appeared today to be ready for another slugging skirmish. Nine circuit clouts played a prominent part in six of the eight games yesterday altho the principal siege guns—Williams, Hornsby, Miller and Ruth—failed to figure.

Bigbee, Tierney and Gooch of Pittsburg put enough wallops out of the park to beat the Phillies with Morrison hurling shutout ball and keep the Pirates on the heels of the Giants, who raised the National League pennant, and then mated four Cub pitchers for 18 hits and victory, 9 to 4. Frank Snyder's homer helped decide the battle.

LEADERS LOSE

The other leading National League contenders fell by the wayside, loose fielding and Vance's ineffectiveness costing Brooklyn a 6-2 decision to the Reds, while Miller's twirling and Gowdy's batting helped the Braves take their sixth successive victory and the third in as many days from St. Louis.

The Yankees bunched their hits to better advantage and made it two in a row, 9 to 7, from the White Sox. Joe Bush chalked up his seventh straight and Babe Ruth collected two hits and walked twice. Falk made his seventh home run.

CARDS BIFFED

St. Louis lost some ground in the race by losing to Boston, 7-3, home runs by McManus and Menosky featuring the game.

Brower's double gave Washington a 9-8 victory over Cleveland in 11 innings while Ethuka scattered the Athletics' nine hits, the Tigers bunched their half dozen and won six to two.

GOV. DAVIS STILL UNDECIDED

May Yet Enter the Race for Nomination

Several Other Applications Are Also Made

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press) Political interest in the state capital centered on whether or not Governor Davis at the last moment would reconsider his announced decision of March 19, that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Friends contended to day that the governor would be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the Republican primaries if assured he would have no opposition. They say the governor feels that he is entitled to re-nomination without opposition.

However, Carmi A. Thompson, of Cleveland, State Senator Arthur H. Day of Cleveland, and C. Homer Dunbar of Coeburn, already have filed applications.

Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith today filed his formal declaration of candidacy for Republican nomination for governor.

Former Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold of Columbus, filed for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Senator William H. Chatfield of Cincinnati, filed for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, as did Raymond J. Logan, Cleveland Heights.

Harry Clay Smith, negro editor of Cleveland, filed for the Republican nomination for governor.

Secretary Smith's petition was signed by J. W. Horner, former prosecuting attorney of Licking county; E. A. Scott, former prosecuting attorney of Adams county; Frank M. Hansbottom, Zanesville manufacturer, banker and business man; Mrs. Ruth Mowry Worrell, Dayton, assistant national director of Red Cross; and others.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY ON UPGRADE

Market Close is Unsettled—Corn Steady

CHICAGO—With showers in the northwest and a decline in Liverpool quotations, wheat averaged a little lower in price here today during the early dealings. It was expected also that the government crop report this afternoon would prove moderately bearish, confirming private estimates. Commission house buying, however, developed quickly on the decline. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 5-8 lower with July and September both 1 1/2-1 3/4 to 1-1 3/4 was followed by a tight rally as buyers stepped back all around to well below the initial level.

Corn and oats were firm, owing more or less to talk of probable smaller receipts of corn. After opening 1-8 off to 3-8 @ 1-2c up, July 60 7-8 to 61, the corn market scored a slight general advance. Oats started 1-8 lower to a like advance, July 36 5-8 to 33 3/4 and later hardened a little for all deliveries.

Wheat closing quotations were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c higher with July 1 1/4-1 1/2 to 1 1/4-1 1/8 and September 1 1/8-7/8 to 1 1/4-1 1/8.

The corn market closed steady at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-8 at 1-4c higher; July 60 3-4 at 718 to 60 7-8.

TRADE IN STOCKS DWINDLES

Movements Irregular, With Mixed Gains and Losses

NEW YORK—Gains and losses mainly within narrow limits, attended the dull opening of today's stock market. Traders evidently were disposed to wait on impending developments before extending their operations for the long or short account. Formal announcement of the details of the Republic-Midvale-Indiana steel merger were without pronounced effect, aside from the moderate strength of some of that group. Rails were neglected but the street was not inclined to attach much importance to prospects of a railroad strike. Atlas Powder was conspicuous among the specialties, rising four points. Foreign exchange eased on advices from Paris regarding the attitude of the reparations commission towards a German loan.

Altho call money opened at an unusually low rate of 3 1/4 per cent, dealings diminished steadily during the morning. Instances of the market's speculative character included an extension of the rise in Atlas Powder 1-2 points and an abrupt decline of 3-4 points in J. P. Morgan. Sugars were strong on the further rise in the price of the refined product. Independent steels and obscure equipments held or increased early gains. Losses of 1 to 3 points were made by Electric Storage Battery, Willys-Overland preferred, Consolidated Gas and American Can. Rails became more regular on selling of Toledo, St. Louis and Western and Ann Arbor preferred and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico.

LAWYER HELD IN CONTEMPT

Refuses Steel Records to Combine Probers

NEW YORK—(United Press)—Thomas L. Chaubourne, counsel for the proposed three-company steel merger, was today declared in contempt for failing to produce full accountant reports for the seven companies reported interested in the combination.

Chaubourne refused to produce these accounts last Saturday and was threatened with contempt proceedings and a jail sentence by Samuel Undermyer, counsel for the Lockwood committee investigating the merger.

Mortimer L. Schiff, who also was threatened with jail for contempt, was recalled to the witness stand today when the committee hearing experts and correspondence relating to the proposed merger. He testified that the seven companies had agreed to the value of each had been fixed by the other six.

Undermyer asked Schiff if he did not think the various companies might agree to inflated values for their several properties. "That has not been my experience," said Schiff. "Each fellow would try to get the other down as far as he could."

Farmer objected that statements submitted by Schiff today comprised a consolidated balance sheet and that they showed separate values of respective properties. Figures he asked for will be prepared, showing original reports of values of the several companies.

STOCK AND GRAIN GOSSIP

Technical position of the market has been impaired by the steady and successive advances so that the list as a general proposition would seem to be a position making it very sensitive to a selling movement that is likely to develop at any time.

Combined net earnings of Mexican Seaboard Oil with International Petroleum and another company for the year ending Dec. 31, was $49,162 after interest and federal taxes, but before depletion and depreciation of 10.9 a share.

Sinclair is reported to have secured $3,000,000 for its 700,000 shares of Mexican Seaboard Oil stock.

For 1921 Prairie Pipe Line company earned $58.37 a share against $33.08 in 1920.

The Phillips Petroleum company has brought in a 2,000-barrel discovery well with the Skelly company in the Burbank field, Oklahoma.

Reports of 201 class one railroads to the I. C. show that a net operating income of $50,256,800 for April, equal to 3.93 per cent on tentative valuations, against net income of $29,556,800, or at rate of 2.33 per cent in April of 1921.

Twenty industrials 95 1/2, off 44. Twenty rails, 84 1/2, off 30.

Kansas City wires: "Seasonal demand for corn from Southern states has been unusually good, several local shippers reported, which explains in part the recent large arrivals there. The movement to the Mexican border has been temporarily checked by the heavy import tax. A local dealer said it was rumored that strong protests against the tax were having some effect and that it might be removed."

Hog receipts were 36,000. Early sales were about five lower than Wednesday's average; tops, $10.95; $10.90 paid for fair quality.

Joe C. Hartline

Candidate for County Auditor at the Republican Primaries

Joe C. Hartline, who is a candidate for the nomination of county auditor on the Republican ticket, entered politics he announced Saturday, at the solicitation of Lima business friends.

Hartline made his start in business life on a farm in Tuscarawas co. He came to Lima 12 years ago, and has been a property owner and tax payer in Allen co. since.

He resides at 1010 Faurot-av. He was engaged in the automobile business for many years, graduating from salesman and agency manager to district manager in central western Ohio for a big truck company. He is engaged in the insurance business at present. He is married, has four children and is 48 years old.

Hartline has been identified with the good roads movement in Allen co. since its inception. He is chairman of the Allen-co Good Roads council, an active worker in the Hardin Highway association, and recently elected vice-president of Ohio State Automobile association. He is also president of the Lima Auto Club.

City officials are congratulating themselves upon the purchase of cast iron pipe for the watermain extensions which they made several months ago.

Cast iron pipe was purchased at $40.50 a ton while prices charged Napoleon recently were $51.25 a ton. This means a saving of $26,543 on the amount of pipe ordered, Harry N. Osgood, city purchasing agent, says.

Pipe ordered will cost the city approximately $100,000, according to the contract, while at the present prices it would cost $126,543 or more. This is a saving of more than 25 per cent, Osgood says.

A meeting of the executive committee in charge of the historical pageant to be staged here June 29 to July 4, will be held some time Friday.

MUTT AND JEFF—MUTT'S THE VICTIM OF THE BUM'S RUSH

By BUD FISHER

BRINGING UP FATHER—

—By McMANUS

SHORT SHAVINGS

Bill Cunningham, Ohio State student, started home with a paper carton of buttermilk. He slipped and sat down on the sidewalk. "The jolt blew the top off the carton," he says. "The buttermilk fountained up in the air. That's not the worst. When it came down it came down on me."

Turner West, Buckeye Pipe Line employee, went out with friends to look for mushrooms, and encountered a genuine blue racer. His friends say that anyone who thinks a genuine blue racer can go last should have seen West run.

John W. Barink, candidate for sheriff, told his wife he thought he needed more exercise. "I meant to follow that up by joining a tennis club," he says. "But before I got to that, she hunted up a hoe and put me to work in the yard."

Frank Mitchell tells this one on a friend who bought a five-gallon can of automobile oil. When he thought it must be half empty he found it was still nearly full. His small son, wishing to be helpful, had filled it up with water from the pump.

TWO CHECK RADIO INFORMATION TO FARMERS

When farmers of the United States listen in for the latest reports on the weather, market conditions and other matters of agricultural interest, two persons in Washington see that they get the right information in the right way.

Or is C. A. Bauer, of the Postoffice Department, whose duty it is to broadcast information to the farmer by radio.

The other is Miss Katherine G. Rice, who checks up on Bauer and sees that the broadcast reports are being received properly by farmers with radio receiving sets.

Miss Rice is market editor of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. She uses a simple radio receiving set, designed by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, to check back the market and other information sent out by the department and by Bauer.

Bauer is called the "farmers' friend." His broadcasting station is WWX, from which he sends out daily at regular intervals, weather forecasts, market prices and lectures of interest to farmers.

In the picture are Miss Rice at her set and, inset, Bauer.

RADIO A PASSING CRAZE? IT'S DISPROVED BY POPULAR INTEREST, SAYS GODLEY

(BY PAUL F. GODLEY)
America's Foremost Radio Authority

Is radio a passing craze? Broadly speaking, the answer to this question asked by the thousands interested in wireless is, "No!"

Any scientific development which can lend itself to the spread of timely information in the way in which radio broadcasting has done, will never lose its popularity.

The greater portion of the population of the earth is settled in outlying districts. These places are totally dependent upon financial markets, industrial and governmental centers for their daily progress. It is only natural that they should desire up-to-the-minute information about what is going on in the rest of the world. Thus the daily press, the telegraph, and the telephone have each come into their own as purveyors of information.

Measured by the standards which broadcasting has set, all of these are found wanting—they are too slow.

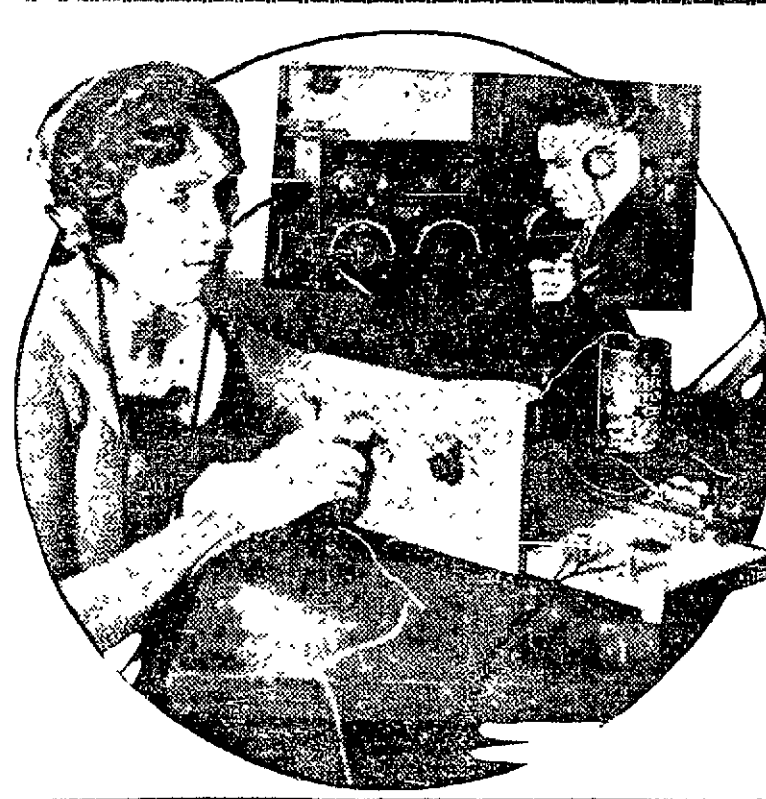

Furthermore, none of them can provide entertainment for those who are isolated. It is for this reason that the phonograph has proved so popular. Its "canned" music came into providing worth-while entertainment for the largest group than any other agency ever previously devised.

But the fact that it was "canned" made its loss of popularity certain as soon as some new improvement might be developed. This came with the radiophone.

Who would not prefer the feeling that the famous artist herself, even though unseen, was performing for his particular benefit—instead of an old, cold record of her performance?

The phonograph is strictly an impersonal machine. The radio is the most fascinating appliance with which mankind has ever had to deal. The annihilation of space in such an easy manner, in itself, is almost uncanny, while the ability to choose that program or that station which one wishes—together with the ever-present expectation that one may at any moment pick up some station hundreds of miles away—lends a fascination to radio that has never been equaled before.

Considerable discussion has appeared in the newspaper and magazines about the steps necessary to insure a continuance of radio broadcasting. There seems to be an impression on the part of some, that the large manufacturing corporations now supplying the services gratis—to say nothing of the artists themselves—will soon tire of such benevolences.

My answer to this would be "Let them tire."

Once the great public has sampled it, radio broadcasting can never die. If no other way presents itself, this broadcasting will be carried on by the municipality, the state, or by the nation itself.
